Long-Awaited Master Plan Formally Presented to County

By BETTY RICE

Warren County is now poised on a "springboard" with the formal presentation Monday night of the long-awaited master plan.

Richard Fernback of the State Planning Board, who is in charge of regional planning phases, told some 73 persons attending a dinner meeting at Beatty school that completion of the master plan was not only the end of a long road but the beginning of one — a stopping place.

"Your real job," Fernback said, "is to use the plan-move with it . . . it's a forever job-for-you, your sons and your grandsons."

The planner noted that Warren County represents less intense, flared parts of the state and pointed out that while some think all areas should be heavily industrialized, he couldn't altogether agree.

Fernback stated that in the Commonwealth and nation various types of living have come together-sharing the same desires for the future. "You live here because you choose to live here," he said, "but you must have the economy to do it." He suggested that with the master plan, there is now an economic base for what the residents want.

Referring to the county as rural, forested and a recreational area, he advised looking at what it will take (not only new industries) to achieve an ideal. Fernback stated that statistics indicate that Warren County has almost ceased to grow with a decline possible in the borough and a small increase in the county. Adding that size was not as important as quality, the state representative said that some diversity was needed here to create the farming atmosphere plus industry to help balance the economy. Fernback termed the master

PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Principal speaker Monday night when Warren County's master plan was unveiled and presented to the county commissioners, was Richard Fernback of the state planning board. Fernback said the plan was the end of one long road and the beginning of another — a "forever job for you, your sons and your grandsons." Looking at the whole state, Fernback stated that Pennsylvania (and Warren County) were very remarkable with all the makings to be successful. (Photo by Knight)

Hanoi Comes Close to Admitting Regular Troops in South Viet

PARIS (AP) — A U.S. spokesman hinted at slight movement in the snagged preliminary Vietnam peace talks Monday by reporting that North Vietnam "came as close as it has to date to admitting" it had regular troops in the South.

While the Americans showed particular interest in a shade of difference in North Vietnamese wording on the point, they also launched a strong offensive against the whole Hanoi position at the talks.

"The facts are," said U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman in a point-by-point attack, "that well over 200,000 North Vietnamese have been dispatched into South Vietnam since the autumn of 1964."

"Most of these have become casualties of the combat or fallen prey to disease or other mishaps."

"As of last month we estimated that there were well over 70,000 North Vietnamese soldiers in North Vietnamese army units in South Vietnam and well over 15,000 others in nominally Viet Cong units. Even more are on the way. In recent months, the total North Vietnamese presence has increased to approximately 70 per cent of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong combat forces, and shows signs of continuing to increase rather than decrease."

In four hours of conversations, resumed after a four-day recess, one remark of Xuan Thuy, the North Vietnamese negotiator, intrigued the U.S. side. That was when the North Vietnamese said that "once the United States comes to agree against Vietnam, any Vietnamese has the right to combat them and to do that on any part of the territory of his dear country."

This, said U.S. spokesman William J. Jordan, seemed "somewhat closer" to acknowledged presence of North Vietnamese regular units in the South, but he still described the Hanoi delegate's attitude as one of "failure to admit" such a presence.

Asked if the words encouraged the U.S. side, he said: "All I can say is that it is a little closer. Whether it is encouraging or discouraging I can't say."

Enemy Fires Rockets Into Metropolitan Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy gun crews fired nine rockets into metropolitan Saigon before dawn Tuesday, killing three Vietnamese civilians and wounding 28, a government spokesman reported.

The 100-pound, Soviet-made rockets exploded in scattered parts of the capital, one in the central 1st Precinct, another around the U.S. Army field hospital and a third a block from South Vietnamese Joint General Staff headquarters on the edge of Tan Son Nhut air base. Nine houses were reported burned.

Bitter battles raged around Saigon and in the central highlands Monday. The U.S. Command reported heavy enemy casualties but further attacks were expected in both sectors. There was speculation that North Vietnamese forces in the highlands would try to cut through Vietnam at the waist.

Enthusiasm Sparks Numerous Outdoor Club Activities

An enthusiasm to see all types of outdoor activities being enjoyed in the Warren County area throughout the coming summer months sparked the monthly meeting of the Allegheny Outdoor Club at the YMCA last night. Several immediate events were planned, and a more diversified schedule of events was indicated by those present.

Reporting on the nature walk through Akeley Swamp held on May 19, Harris Johnson said that 65 persons had participated in spite of the rain and that many of them had come from Sheffield, Tidoute and Youngsville. About a third of the party elected to tour the more rugged portion of the swamp, while the other two-thirds were satisfied to observe the natural beauty of the swamp from the railroad tracks.

Moving from the past to the immediate future, a hike for this coming Sunday (June 2) to Gardner's Rocks was scheduled. Persons wishing to participate will meet at the parking lot of the courthouse at 1:30 p.m., with Jim Baughman acting as leader. The following Sunday (June 9) a canoe trip from the tailwaters of the Kinzua Dam to Crescent Park is scheduled. Persons interested in this activity will meet at the dam on the Hemlock side of the river at 1:30 p.m. Rental canoes will be available for this trip, and it has been suggested that life jackets will be a requirement.

On Sunday, June 16, Larry Stotz will conduct a tour of the Tionesta Scenic Area, the area known locally as both the "climax forest" and the "big timber." The trek through this virgin hemlock-beech forest is a pleasant walk exceptionally suited to family participation. Those from the Warren area planning to attend will meet at the courthouse parking lot at 1 p.m., while those from other areas can join the group at Winston's Garage in Ludlow at 2 p.m.

Events still to be scheduled will be a bicycle tour, an overnight camping trip, and a "back-packing" hike into the backcountry to be led by Ted Grisez. Various members are working out the necessary arrangements so that dates can be announced in the near future. The next monthly meeting of the club will be June 24 at the YMCA.

All interested persons are urged to take part in any of the club activities that appeal to them, and it has been suggested that campground owners post the club schedule on their bulletin boards so that vacationers in the area can participate as well.

All events are open to husband and wife, and children will be welcomed when conditions are suitable.

Nuclear Submarine Reported Overdue With 99 Aboard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy reported the nuclear submarine USS Scorpion overdue in the Atlantic Monday night with 99 men aboard. The weather was described as "very, very bad."

The submarine was returning from what was described as extended training operations in the Mediterranean.

The $40 million vessel should have reported in about midday as it approached Norfolk, Va., the Pentagon said. No message was received.

The last contact with the submarine came in a routine message stating her position, speed and course over a week ago, on May 21.

The Pentagon said it is normal for a submarine making a submerged passage to observe radio silence for extended periods.

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, told newsmen at a hurriedly called news conference that the Scorpion was a few miles south of the Azores at the time of the last communication.

Moorer indicated, however, he felt the submarine would have been nearer the United States at the time it encountered difficulty.

What may have happened to the Scorpion was a mystery. "The weather out there is very, very bad," Moorer said. The submarine Shark, dispatched as part of the search, reported surface waves of 15 to 22 feet.

At one point Moorer suggested the Scorpion may have chosen to ride out severe weather by remaining submerged. He also suggested that in bad weather a message informing Norfolk that the Scorpion was being delayed could have been lost.

Moorer acknowledged, however, that the submarine would have attempted to contact shore in event of a delay. If its radio communications had failed, the Scorpion could have sent other signals.

"So far we have not received any" emergency messages, Moorer said in response to questions.

Six destroyers, two submarines and patrol aircraft have been thrown into a broad search for the vessel.

Court Approves Jailing Of Draft Card Burners

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court approved Monday the jailing of Vietnam war protesters who burn their draft cards.

The 7-1 ruling, given by Chief Justice Earl Warren, rejected a free-speech attack on the 1965 federal law that made destruction of draft cards a crime.

"We cannot accept the view," said Warren, "that an apparently limitless variety of conduct can be labeled 'speech' whenever the person engaging in the conduct intends thereby to express an idea."

The Constitution, he continued, gives Congress broad and sweeping power to raise and support armies and to make sure the draft system functions with maximum efficiency.

Justice William O. Douglas, dissenting, said it is undoubtedly true that Congress has these powers when war has been declared.

"The underlying and basic problem in this case, however, is whether conscription is permissible in the absence of a declaration of war," he added.

Justice Thurgood Marshall did not vote, presumably because of his recent service in the Justice Department as U.S. solicitor general.

French Workers Shout Down Compromise Strike Settlement

PARIS (AP) — Factory workers throughout France shouted down Monday a compromise settlement of their 11-day general strike.

President Charles de Gaulle's government said it would crush any unauthorized marches in the face of apparent determination by workers to press further in demands that lay behind the worst domestic crisis since war times.

The government's warning came after a stock of "murderous weapons" was reported confiscated by police at Lyon. The Interior Ministry said extremists were preparing to use fire bombs, pistols, knives and homemade mines "to make impossible any return to civil peace."

About 50,000 persons, both union members and students, massed into a stadium on the south side of Paris. They heavily applauded a speech calling for "power in the factories turned over to the workers and the power of the universities turned over to the students."

A "protocol of agreement," hammered out in 27 hours of negotiations by government, union and management representatives, was largely undercut by the unions' central organizations and by union members in industries over wide areas of the country.

There was a slim possibility that the local union membership would approve portions of the agreement in voting during the next two days. And there were scattered instances of workers agreeing to return to their jobs.

While union members studied the tentative agreement, largely concerning private industry, negotiations went on in the so-called public sector—including gas and electricity, railways and urban transport and coal mining. These industries were not included in the negotiations headed by Premier George Pompidou Saturday, Sunday and early Monday.

A march through Paris by the National Union of French Students had government approval, but other groups such as the "March 22 Organization" of exiled Daniel Cohn-Bendit, and the Trotskyist Revolutionary Communist Youth Federation said they would defy the regime with a series of demonstrations.

The Socialist-backed Workers Force and the moderate Democratic Confederation of French Workers ordered their members to take part in the authorized student march. The nation's largest union, the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor, told its followers to boycott the demonstration.

McCarthy Thinks Race 'Will Be Very Close'

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota mounted a strong Oregon primary challenge Monday to the series of ballot box victories by which Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York hopes to blitz his way to the Democratic presidential nomination.

Whether McCarthy would fall short of matching or exceeding Kennedy's vote in Tuesday's election—as he did in Indiana and Nebraska—seemed to hinge on whether he could swing in his direction the still-undecided voters among about 380,000 Democrats expected to go to the polls.

With more than 300,000 Republicans expected to turn out, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was confident of gaining a solid majority. He is opposed on the ballot by California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who says he is not a serious contender. A costly drive for a write-in for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was launched belatedly.

The Democratic contest was complicated by an effort of organized labor to drum up proxy support for a man who isn't here, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

There has been a phone campaign for votes for President Johnson, whose name remains on the ballot. Humphrey is listed as a candidate for vice president.

McCarthy, whose campaign is better organized and better financed than in previous primaries, says he thinks the race with Kennedy "will be very close." He added: "I have every reason to be optimistic about it."

Kennedy avoided predictions.

SWINGING IN THE RAIN

Despite sporadic rain Monday night The Floggie Street Five presented a concert of swinging music in downtown Warren as scheduled. The group, sponsored by local merchants, and made up of Gregg Fino, John Lasher, Steve Schwartz, John Cottillon and Grover Cleveland, took shelter under the covered drive at Northwest Savings and Loan. The spirit of the combo was not dampened by the weather. (Photo by Knight.)

and secondary highway plans and the people of the future.

Tied into the overall plan, Reed stated, are eight basic regions, each of which had elements that were studied separately. "The big factor," Reed said, "is getting the plan effectuated." According to the consultant, the county has tools at hand such as zoning in about one-third of the county, subdivision regulations, a certain influence over county spending as to major improvements and day to day decisions made by township, borough and county officials with the master plan as a guide.

Former county planning director Robert Peterson returned from Wayne County in New York State for Monday's occasion and briefly outlined a few impressions gained since leaving here. "You have some very good things going for you," Peterson said. He mentioned in particular the importance of a newspaper serving the county, a radio station doing the same as well as many county groups interested in local affairs.

Peterson added that in Wayne County, near Rochester, N.Y., many know nothing at all about county planning through lack of such communications.

He said he hoped the general plan would be used toward physical development of the county. Peterson closed by stating he expected to come back to Warren on the Fourth of July if "it didn't rain."

David Swanson, a member of the planning commission and a former chairman, served as master of ceremonies. Introduced were Kermit Forsgren, present chairman and members Dr. Ward Sharp, Russell; Charles Dodd, Columbus; James Frantz, Glade township; Myron Ludwig, Lander; Kenneth Teeple, Tidoute. Mentioned but not present were David Potter and Carl Burghardt. Dr. David K. Rice, chairman of the county board of commissioners, received the first copy of the general plan, and on behalf of the entire board pledged wholehearted support and continued sponsorship. Commissioner Thomas J. Donnelly attended the session while Blain M. Mead was out of town.

Former county Commissioner Lewis L. Crippen, who was serving during the inception of the master plan, was acknowledged and said the plan would only be valuable if the ideas within its covers are put into effect.

Others introduced were past planning commission members Dr. Robert Israel, William R. Walker and Lee M. Schaeffer along with unsung heroes, Carl Rabat, who assembled the 184 pages of the plan; Dennis Whipple, who devoted countless hours at the drafting board; Helen Dinges, a former secretary; Margaret Mohr, present secretary and William Iseman Jr., new zoning enforcement officer.

Also presented were Bill Rusin, planning director; Mayor D. E. Conaway; Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr.; Toby Shea, Glenn Elliott, Don Dalrymple, Ed Ransom (zoning board of adjustment) and William Hendrickson, state representative, Pennsylvania Board of Planning.

Represented at the meeting Monday were Warren borough, industry, school board, townships, Warren County Chamber of Commerce and the news media.

Copies of the master plan were distributed and will also be placed in the schools and public library where they will be available to those interested. Additional copies may be purchased at the planning office for the price of printing.

Retired Miner Found Shot to Death

CRESSON, Pa. (AP) — A breadman making deliveries found an 81-year-old retired coal miner shot to death Monday in his rural Cambria County home.

State police said Michael Noga of Rt. 1, Lilly, was shot twice with a small caliber gun. They said $520 in cash was missing. Police said Noga was a widower and lived alone.

Police said Noga, the father of several children, was known to have had $320 in an old leather billfold concealed in a dresser drawer and another $200 in a dirty, gray handkerchief hidden behind a bedroom door.

All of the money was in $20 bills, police said.

Youngsville VFD Reaches 64% Of Development Program Goal

The Youngsville Volunteer Fire Department has reached 64 per cent of its goal toward a development program for the Brokenstraw Valley.

According to Robert V. Thompson, general chairman, pledges and donations total $79,894 toward the goal of $125,000. A breakdown of figures is as follows: firemen and auxiliary, $30,495; special gifts, $11,690; Youngsville borough, $29,363; Brokenstraw township, east, $3,185 and Brokenstraw township, west, $5,161.

These figures were released Saturday during an evening of entertainment where addresses were given by Mayor Ernest McGraw, an honorary chairman; Leland Stiller, fire chief; Wallace Long, department chairman and the general chairman.

Three area chairmen, Harley See, for Youngsville borough; Fred Wilson Jr., Brokenstraw E. and Ernest Brown for Brokenstraw W., reported their standings. Claire Schnell is finance chairman for the campaign.

Thompson distributed certificates to the donors who have fulfilled their pledges as "founders." The evening's entertainment was enjoyed by approximately 200 area residents.

The campaign is progressing for funds to construct a community facility on the firemen's property between East Main and Orchard streets. The structure will house fire equipment, an ambulance and provide a recreation center and radio room.

This week the firemen's auxiliary will conduct a "teletthon" to some residents of the area unable to be contacted by campaign workers. The general campaign will continue for at least two weeks.

"Meet the Millers" TV series was represented in Youngsville Saturday when Mr. and Mrs. Miller walked the streets of Youngsville, greeting people as part of the firemen's auxiliary project for sidewalk days.

On tomorrow's (Wednesday's) program, the Millers will discuss Youngsville and the campaign during their 30-minute demonstration. The couple was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stiller while in Youngsville.

West Germany Takes Step Toward Full Sovereignty

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany took a major step toward full sovereignty Monday as the United States, Britain and France gave notice they are ready to turn over their exclusive rights to tap German telephones, open the mail and defend German-based Allied troops.

In identical notes, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, French Ambassador Francois Seydoux and British Charge d'Affaires Denis Laskey told Foreign Minister Willy Brandt that they accept the West German draft emergency laws in which Bonn takes over these rights.

Rights reserved to the Allies "which relate to the security of armed forces stationed in West Germany and which are temporarily retained. . . will accordingly lapse as . . . the above mentioned—German laws—become effective," said the allied notes.

Bills allowing West Germany to monitor communications on its own and to act with federal troops against internal disorder are slated for passage by the lower house of Parliament Thursday. They will go into effect probably next month after action by the upper house and federal president, regarded as formalities.

sured, demonstrations against the emergency legislation continued throughout West Germany and in West Berlin by students and leftists who claimed it will open the way to dictatorship.

Leaders of the opposition Free Democratic party insisted that it still must be determined whether the allies retain more rights in West Germany than in other NATO countries.

Although Bonn considers West Berlin part of West Germany, it seemed clear that the allies were not giving up war-won rights over Berlin that remain to be settled in a German peace treaty. Access from West Germany across Communist East Germany to West Berlin is still based on arrangements with the Voet Union, the fourth ally of World War II.

Despite the continued division of Germany, Monday's gathering of ambassadors with Brandt was a milestone in West Germany's change from an occupied nation to one fully sovereign.

Students and unions carried out protests against the laws in West Berlin, Munich, Frankfurt and the Ruhr industrial district.

LBJ Announces

Nominations

For Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced Monday he will nominate former Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York to be ambassador to Spain and will name Texan William H. Crook to be ambassador to Australia.

Wagner, 58, will succeed Angier Biddle Duke, who has become State Department chief of protocol.

Johnson earlier had nominated Frank E. McKinney, Indianapolis banker and former Democratic national chairman for the Spanish post. McKinney, however, although confirmed by the Senate, asked that his selection be withdrawn in the wake of a heart attack.

The new ambassador was elected mayor of New York in 1954 and served until 1965.

Council Action Could Mean Dissolution of Jamestown

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Action taken by city council Monday night could result in the dissolution of the city of Jamestown. Veteran GOP Councilman Warren Erickson had proposed Mayor Magnuson be authorized to appoint a commission to study the advantages and disadvantages of the dissolving Jamestown as a city and making it part of the town of Ellicott.

The resolution passed by a close vote of 6 to 5 with Councilman James Conti leading the opposition. Joining Conti in casting negative votes were, Councilman James Whitmeyer, Lucy Alpaugh, Donald Dahlgren, and J. Raymond Peterson. Second Ward Councilman John Champlin did not attend the meeting. Mayor Magnuson, who had said over the weekend, he would oppose the Erickson resolution ratified the councilmatic action following the close vote.

Erickson suggested dissolving the city and making it part of the town of Ellicott would broaden the tax base and provide additional space for business and industrial expansion. The Republican councilman conceded that annexation by Jamestown of the surrounding municipalities might be a superior move, but said, he was suggesting "reverse annexation." Erickson said, under New York state law the city of Jamestown could not initiate a move to annex suburban towns and villages. The move for annexation, he said, must be made by the municipalities themselves.

In other business the council authorized an agreement with the Morton Club, official bargaining agent for the city's firemen under the new Taylor law. This still leaves the DPW workers without a contract with the city. The city smokeeaters received a $627 across the board increase bringing the beginning salary for a fireman to $6039 and going up to $6903. The council then authorized a resolution calling for the issuance of bonds in the amount of $45,000 in order to pay for the firemen's raise. This brings to more than $100,000 bonds issued to date which have been necessary to provide pay hikes for city employees.

Councilman Erickson reported bids will be opened on Wednesday for the paving of Falconer st. He said, bids are expected to be in the neighborhood of $143,000, well above the earlier estimates. He said, however, the city still expects to go ahead with the work this summer.

American Exporters Post $248-Million Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — American exporters in April reversed a March trend and posted a $248-million surplus over imports. But the nation's trade picture remained clouded and a government economist blamed U.S. automakers for part of the uncertainty.

With exports increasing 17.7 per cent during the month, the nation reversed its March experience when it imported more than it exported for the first time in five years. Both exports and imports hit record levels last month.

But William H. Chartener, assistant secretary of commerce for economic affairs, said at a Monday news conference that the auto makers are partly responsible for the hefty jump in auto imports which is a major factor in the relatively poor 1968 trade picture.

After citing increased copper and steel imports during April, Chartener said:

"The other item that should be singled out among imports as contributing to the deterioration of the merchandise trade balance is autos. In this instance, U.S. manufacturers are evidently failing to satisfy an important segment of demand."

Chartener said auto imports during April ran at an annual rate of one million cars compared with a 750,000 rate a year earlier. Nearly all of these were small cars, the field which Chartener feels American makers are neglecting.

Despite the over-all improvement in the April figures, Chartener saw only a "glimmer of hope" that the administration's trade goal for this year would be reached even though he looks for improvement through the remainder of 1968.

At the current rate, however, Chartener said it would be very hard just to equal the $4.1-billion export surplus of last year.

President Johnson's goals to reduce the dollar drain by $3 billion this year includes a $500-million improvement in the trade surplus.

'Resurrection City' Turned into Quagmire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Poor People's Campaign was beset by rain and racial differences Monday but leaders said both would be overcome.

A cold, steady rain returned the group's shantytown to the quagmire it had become last week. But while leaders had encouraged evacuation of residents in the first rain, they didn't do so this time.

"We tried to evacuate people and nobody wanted to go," said the Rev. Andrew Young, one of the staff members of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which sponsors the campaign. "We have no plans for evacuation."

He said fewer than 100 of an estimated 2,400 to 3,000 camp residents had left last Friday.

Racial differences were expressed by a leader of some of the Mexican-Americans taking part in the campaign, Reyes Tijerina of Los Angeles. Tijerina told reporters outside the encampment, "Resurrection City, U.S.A." that Negroes were dominating the campaign and were not allowing enough participation by his people and by other whites.

A large majority of the camp-paigners are Negroes. Tijerina said his view of the order of importance among the racial and ethnic groups in the campaign is that the Mexican-Americans should be first, blacks second and Puerto Ricans third.

The leader of the campaign, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, met with Tijerina later in the day at a school in the city where a group of Mexican-Americans are staying while waiting to move into the shantytown.

Abernathy told reporters it had been "a most fruitful meeting" that the Mexican-Americans' demands would be included in over-all campaign demands.

Abernathy said a meeting of the campaign steering committee would be held Wednesday to plan "an intensification of action and expanding demands."

Abernathy said the campaign soon will move on from issues of welfare and hunger to those of jobs and income.

Spock's Objective Said 'To Hinder Induction'

BOSTON (AP)—The jury at Dr. Benjamin Spock's anti-draft conspiracy trial Monday heard an FBI agent testify that the pediatrician declared his long-standing objective was "to hinder the induction process in the United States."

This was during an interview last Dec. 8 as the federal government prepared to close in on Spock and four associates whom it accuses of abetting young Americans to avoid the draft.

"It is my intention," Spock was quoted by agent George McKenna, "and all I have done is in furtherance of that intention, to hinder the United States' prosecution of the war."

"My purpose is to do as much as possible to frustrate the raising of troops for Vietnam."

The interview was held at Spock's East 83rd Street apartment in Manhattan three days after the pediatrician's leader.

A 1715 Spanish fleet was caught off Cape Kennedy by a hurricane and pounded to splinters on the jagged teeth of coral reefs. Records vary as to the value of the cargo, but 10 ships were wrecked and about a thousand crewmen died. The great loss ruined merchants of Seville, Cadiz, Vera Cruz and Cartagena.

ship in the Dec. 5, 1967 anti-draft demonstration at New York's Whitehall induction center.

McKenna, a ruddy-faced agent, testified: "He said, 'I was there to give these young men all the moral encouragement and moral support I could. If these young men are guilty, then I am guilty too and if they go to jail I should go to jail too.'"

"He said that he would be delighted if the government prosecuted him."

It was at the Whitehall Street demonstration exactly one month before his indictment that Spock was arrested for the first time in his life for sitting down on the sidewalk.

The trial was recessed for the night about 30 minutes early when one of the 12 male jurors, Robert Deschenes, became ill with an upset stomach.

The 65-year-old pediatrician is on trial in U.S. District Court with four codefendants — Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43, Mitchell Goodman, 44, a New York writer and teacher; Marcus Raskin, 33, a Washington researcher; and Michael Ferber, 23, a Harvard graduate student.

They are accused of conspiring to counsel and abet young men to evade military service, a federal crime carrying a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Guard Ordered into Louisville After Outbreak of Violence

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Louie B. Nunn ordered the National Guard into Louisville Monday night after an outbreak of violence in the city's West End, which is predominantly Negro.

Nunn took action at the request of Mayor Kenneth Schmied, who informed him, among other things, that one police officer had been injured while attempting to quell the outburst.

There were reports of scattered sniping, looting and fire throughout the area.

Bottles, trash and other debris were thrown at officers when they arrived on the scene at 28th and Greenwood.

One officer on the scene radioed back to headquarters this message: "For God's Sake, send every available officer that you can find."

The crowd swelled from about 200 to an estimated 800 or more at the height of the disturbance.

The injured officer reportedly was struck by a missile thrown by someone in the crowd.

What prompted the outburst wasn't known. However, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had met with the mayor earlier in the day to protest the reinstatement of Patrolman Michael Clifford.

Clifford had been dismissed from the force for allegedly abusing a Negro he was arresting. The Civil Service Board canceled the dismissal.

There had been no racial disorders in Louisville since last summer when crowds of Negroes staged protest demonstrations in behalf of an open housing law.

That law was passed later by the city.

Republicans Now Have Constitutional Majority

HARRISBURG (AP) — Six new lawmakers, elected to serve out unexpired terms last April 23, took their seats in the House Monday following brief swearing in ceremonies.

The six, three Republicans and three Democrats, brought the chamber up to its full complement of 203 members with the GOP holding a 104-99 margin.

More importantly, it gave the Republicans a constitutional majority. It takes 102 votes to pass a bill in the House, and the GOP has been down to 101 since last fall.

Judge George C. Eppinger of Franklin County swore in the following members to serve until Nov. 30:

DEMOCRATS

Eugene F. Scanlon, 43, Pittsburgh attorney for the 17th District of Allegheny County, succeeding Thomas J. Foerster, elected county commissioner last November.

Frank W. O'Brien, 49, Pittsburgh labor leader, for the 22nd District of Allegheny County, succeeding James F. Clarke, elected county prothonotary.

Denny J. Bixler, 27, Altoona broadcaster, for the 79th District of Blair County, succeeding Republican Robert E. Clarke, who died.

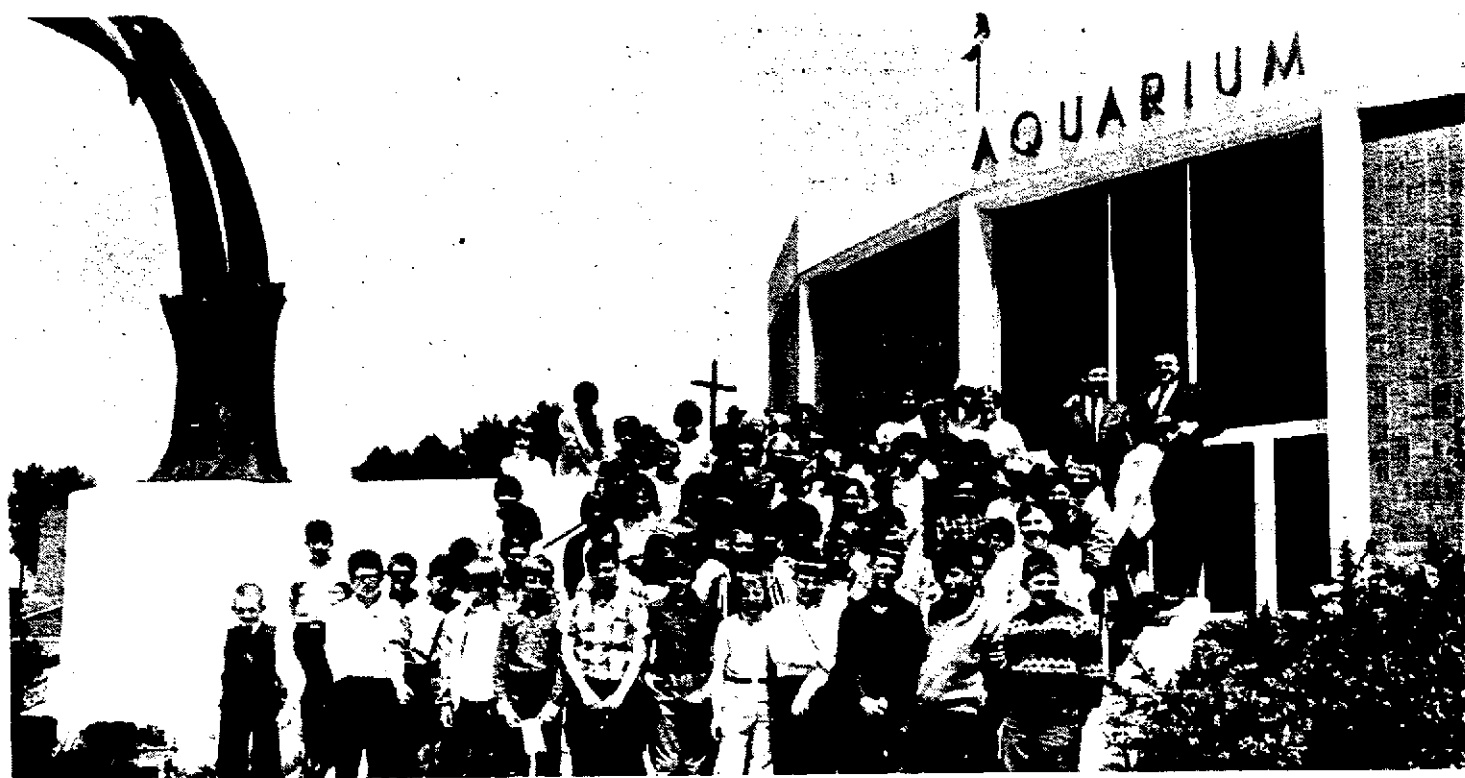

REPUBLICANS

R. Harry Bittle, 30, Chambersburg attorney, for the 89th District of Franklin County, succeeding Enos H. Horst, who died.

Andrew S. Moscrip, 53, an attorney from Orwell, for the 110th District of Bradford County, succeeding Evan S. Williams, elected county judge. Moscrip formerly served in the House from 1953 through 1958.

Arla Dumas, 39, for the 190th District of Philadelphia, succeeding Democrat Freeman Hankins, elected to the Senate.

All six new members are the nominees of their parties for a full two-year term in the Nov. 5 general election.

ANNUAL FIELD TRIP

The sixth grade class at Jefferson Street Elementary School journeyed to Buffalo, N.Y. and Niagara Falls, Canada Friday for their annual field trip. A total of 72 children in two chartered buses made the journey accompanied by teachers Louis Rich, Dale Brown, Barbara Sobek, Donna Wagner, student teacher, and Angelo Dimino, Jefferson Street school principal.

Highlighting the trip was a visit to the Aquarium at Niagara Falls where the students had an opportunity to see a dolphin and seal show. During the tour the youngsters also visited the Wax Museum and the Skylon Tower in Canada. The students left Warren at 7 a.m. and returned about 10 p.m.

Conference Committee Agrees On $44.7 Million Pay Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee agreed Monday on a $44.7 million bill to grant Pennsylvania's teachers higher salaries, a committee member reported.

The compromise package was scheduled to be introduced in the House and Senate later Monday night, said Sen. Preston B. Davis, R-Northumberland.

Both Houses kept the session open until the conference committee report could be introduced.

A vote probably would come Tuesday, Davis told reporters after an all-day conference committee session.

Davis said he was "reasonably certain" the conference report would be signed by all six conferees, including the two Democratic members.

Under the agreement, the $44.7 million would be distributed to the state's school districts one of two ways: either through payment of $300 to each teacher or a 7 1/2 percent increase in the district's subsidy payment. The individual districts could decide which option would net them more funds.

The figure is a compromise between the $54 million version passed by the House and the $36 million bill approved by the Senate. The conference committee has been trying to resolve the issue for two months.

Davis said the bill has the approval of Gov. Shafer.

"Generally, the front office agrees to it," he said. "The governor will not veto the bill."

While declining to name specific areas of Shafer's budget which would have to be pruned to pay for the bill, Davis said the funds would be shaved from several programs rather than from drastic cuts in just a few projects.

In other legislative action, a resolution was introduced in the Senate to establish a committee to investigate a recent program on marijuana on an educational television station in Hershey.

Sen. George N. Wade, R-Cumberland, who introduced the resolution, said the show on WITF-TV promoted the use of marijuana. He noted the station receives state money.

Meanwhile, the House refused to concur in Senate amendments to a bill that would require government inspection of all meat bought and sold in Pennsylvania.

Unless the Senate withdraws the changes, the measure will wind up in a joint conference committee.

Hail costs from $150 to $200 million in crops every year and damages at least $25 million worth of property. Kansas and Nebraska suffer the greatest loss.

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture has announced that Leonard H. Weston of Warren County, left, has successfully completed a training course for dog law enforcement officers. Weston was presented a certificate of achievement Monday by Roy K. Pratt, supervisor, State Department of Agriculture. The local man was one of 57 state dog law enforcement officers to complete the intensive training program conducted in Harrisburg. Body Found in Shallow Grave Is Not That of King's Assassin

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A body found in a shallow grave near here May 7 is not that of the alleged assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., investigators said Monday.

Authorities said this was revealed after a comparison of dental charts and skull makeup between the dead man and that of James Earl Ray, 40.

Last week, state police and local officials said they were investigating a possibility the body was Ray's. King was slain April 4 by a bullet from a rifle as he stood on the balcony of a Memphis, Tenn., motel.

Authorities said they would continue their investigation of the body found by two state forestry workers at nearby Brandonville, Schuylkill County. Four bullet wounds—and three bullets—were found in the badly decomposed body.

'Wilderness Fever'

At a time when park managers and other officials in charge of public recreation facilities are throwing up their hands in distress and loudly proclaiming that it is impossible for them to accommodate the hordes of recreationists "beating on their gates," it is interesting to note that Congress is being swept by what could be termed a dose of "wilderness fever."

Almost every member of Congress has introduced or is preparing a bill that would set aside some open space in the nation as a wilderness area so that access to these selected spots would be limited to the extreme. In general, less than one per cent of the population could meet the requirements admitting them to such "haloed" preserves.

Meanwhile, there is much talk that a system of permits will have to be worked out and applied to our public recreational facilities to prevent overcrowding and eventual ruination. Such a permit system may be applied to the national parks for the 1969 season.

However, it was the wilderness craze that prompted a recent outburst on the floor of Congress. Congressman Don Fuqua of Florida introduced H. R. 16976 which would designate the entire Sixth District of Oklahoma as a wilderness area. It seems that Congressman Fuqua was getting a little tired of having wilderness bills which would affect his district introduced by congressmen from other districts.

So when a congressman from Oklahoma introduced such a bill without informing Mr. Fuqua of his intentions, the member from Florida exploded. His final reaction was to introduce the bill that would establish the entire Sixth District of Oklahoma as a wilderness area. Among his many remarks while presenting the bill, Fuqua stated that he was simply "joining the game."

The bill has been referred to the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

The 'Flunky' Jobs

CLEVELAND—I am in town to talk and to listen. I am in town to interrogate Mayor Carl B. Stokes, on whom the eyes of the nation are trained because he was the first Negro to be elected mayor of a large city. And to interrogate the Republican who narrowly lost the election to Mr. Stokes last fall, the suave and brilliant grandson of President William Howard Taft. And to lecture the Ohio Association of Broadcasters who are convened here at the Sheraton-Cleveland where Governor Ronald Reagan of California had made so great an impression by insisting that in 1968 we actually have that missile gap over which Candidate John Kennedy unnecessarily fretted in 1960.

In brief, there is a lot happening in Cleveland — although the spirit of the Chamber of Commerce hardly prevails. The New York Times Sunday Magazine, commenting on the disappointing record of Mayor Stokes after 100 days of rule, observed last spring that Cleveland will not forever survive on the basis of the reputation of its incomparable symphony orchestra. The question is in a sense spiritual: has Cleveland given up? A guest at the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel is bound to conclude that that is the case. We read that a projected urban renewal program contemplates the construction of a new luxury hotel in Cleveland. At the Sheraton one is bound to wonder excitedly whether it will actually have waiters in it.

I mean to plant the seeds of my own inconveniences in order to water a more serious point. My generous hosts provided me with an enormous suite, where I have sat, during the past hours, studying a dozen accounts of the problems of Cleveland. I note across from my typewriter a framed tribute to New Jersey, remarking that "Gov. Richard C. Hughes was a guest in this suite June 6 to 10, 1964." If the Governor actually survived four days in this hotel, he certainly deserves the tribute. Though who knows, perhaps visiting governors carry thermos bottles with hot soup.

Poring over the literature on the problems of Cleveland, I called, at 8 p.m., for a simple dinner, which arrived at 10:25. During the interval I reported my condition to Room Service every 15 minutes or so, giving my exact location, and encouraging their heroic resolution. At 10:15 I called the manager and asked in enigmatically accented whether he could recommend a hotel in Cleveland whose staff was not on strike, which witicism he elected to misunderstand. What made the piquancy, and lifted the experience out of the routine complaint against the execrable service of the gitanistic corporation that forever ruins responsive local enterprise, is that while I waited for Sheraton-Cleveland to find someone to send me some soup, I was reading about Cleveland's unemployment problem in Hough where "10 to 20 per cent of the working population is jobless."

When the waiter finally appeared (I thought I heard the strains of Her Majesty's Bugle Corps when he knocked on the door), I asked him whether disservice was a tradition of the Sheraton - Cleveland, or whether it was hard to find help. He said that the hotel had merely "to call up the union" in order to get extra people. I wonder whether it is so, considering that the prejudice grows against what Mr. Saul Friedman has called "the flunky jobs."

Mr. Friedman, a scholar with a background as a social worker in Cleveland, comments on the situation immediately before the riots: "Many unskilled Negroes, lacking high school educations, apparently resented the fact that, once channeled through the poverty program's professional training centers, they would not find themselves behind sleek mahogany desks with the grand-sounding title, Digital - Computer - Programmer. Though the avenue to self-improvement through continued education and work experience had been opened, myopic vision and the glittering appeal of such slogans as 'Freedom Now' and 'Black Power' prevented them from seeing that today's historian was yesterday's gluer in a fishing tackle shop, that today's professor of sociology at Harvard University was yesterday's pants presser in a dry-cleaning plant in Atlanta, that tomorrow's physician might be today's gardener or street cleaner."

Meanwhile dissatisfaction festers in Cleveland. And its principal leader seems the outstanding candidate for any convention of hunger-strikers.

MASON DENISON

'New Look' Strategem

HARRISBURG — Bureaucratic red tape at its finest now finds that many a state employee who must travel as part of his job, is still waiting patiently to be reimbursed for money he paid out in April — the first month of heretofore unpublishing travel regulations inaugurated by the Shafer Administration in another one of those "new look" strategems.

Denison

These had to be reworked and resubmitted, and the usual two or three weeks it takes for an employee to get his money back has now run up to nearly two months.

Many a state payroll is beginning to wonder if the new system — supposed to give him $3 a day more for "subsistence" — is any improvement at all over the previous $5 a day he got for meals.

This is because the $8 now allowable — only if the employee is away overnight — also must cover such items as local telephone calls and hotel tips, which previously could be re-collected separately. The state worker was previously allowed 50 cents for tips per hotel stop, which he could either splurge by giving the full half-dollar to the bellhop who carried his bags and checked him into his room, or could divide up in smaller amounts during his stay at the hotel, whether it be a day or a week. (Ask any hotel bellhop how he feels about this.)

In practice, the more experienced travelers on the state payroll tip the bag-carrier on the way in and carry their own bags going out. For those who drive, there never was an allowance for the man who brings their car from the garage, and under the new system it must come from the $8 which covers everything except hotel rooms, transportation and garage parking.

Until April 1, the state man on a one-day road trip was given $1.33 for lunch, which was really $1.25, plus the six percent sales ("education") tax. This is out completely now. If an employee of the Commonwealth is sent out of Harrisburg in the morning on a state mission and returns by 5 p.m., he can collect nothing for lunch. To be fair, this follows a federal tax ruling for business which doesn't allow lunch deductions on one-day trips on the theory that the fellow would eat wherever he is.

The state employee, however, has an out on this one. If he works two hours overtime he can collect $4 in expenses for the full day plus the extra time. And on an overnight trip, if he's gone more than 24 hours, he gets an extra $3 for each additional six-hour period, or the nearest half of such a period, within an $8 limit.

Transportation is strictly a second-class deal. The employee, whenever possible, is expected to use a state car. No radio. If he flies, he must take the lowest air fare offered. If by train, he must take a coach unless the trip is more than 200 miles. An employee who insists on driving his own car on state business can collect 5.25 cents per mile (providing he has an easy-going boss who approves the use of the car).

For hotels, he's allowed $10 a night in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and a few other cities. In the smaller cities, it's $8 a night. A few metropolitan hotels give special rates of $10. One major hotel in Pittsburgh has a special "government" rate of $12, which means the state man must go elsewhere or fork over two bucks of his own. There's no legal way for him to stay in a cheaper hotel and use the hotel money for meals.

Also, there's no way to put parking meter money on the expense account. So instead of a nickel, dime or quarter for parking, the employee is likely to pull into a parking lot for a buck or two, which he can get back. Strangely enough it's not the "little guy" who's hit by these expense rules and regulations, but the state officials near the top who are expected to deal with, dine with and generally keep up with the standards of businessmen, Deputy Secretaries and bureau chiefs, for instance, hardly ever take state trips on official business but what it doesn't cost them something out of their own pocket. If only to be on a par with the non-state people they meet and do business with.

For the Governor and a handful of others, mostly department heads, there is the little heard-about "executive" expense account which pays for what the individual "has" to spend.

Chief reason for this delay according to those in the know, is that the original expense accounts "bounced" because of the complicated changes.

"AH WILL NOT SEEK, NOR WILL AH ACCEPT . . . HOW DID THAT GO AGAIN?"

Johnson Turns Other Cheek

WASHINGTON—President Johnson has decided to turn the other cheek to Charles de Gaulle. No world leader, with the possible exception of Mao Tse-tung, has harassed the United States more than the President of France, ranging from his requirement that the United States spend many millions withdrawing its NATO installations from French soil to the recent raids on the dollar. There has also been a lot of criticism of American policy in Vietnam, plus de Gaulle's trip around Latin America in an effort to woo our neighbors out of the North American orbit.

All these President Johnson has taken in silence. Some advisers have suggested that he fire back at de Gaulle but he has said, "No. We have an emotional relationship with France."

On another occasion he confided: "Every time de Gaulle throws a fast ball I'm just going to lean back from the plate and let it pass."

Last week, when France was in the throes of strikes and riots, the President went even further. The United States quickly went to the support of the franc.

Actually, it was a routine transaction, done by the Federal Reserve in New York through an arrangement the United States has with the central banks of the world to support each other's currency. However, the Johnson administration is prepared to go further to support the franc if that becomes necessary; and the President has already decided to turn the other cheek if there is any further economic help the United States can give. Friendship between people, he feels, is more important than diatribes between presidents.

Stokely Carmichael, the Negro leftist, has just purchased a $70,000 house in Washington in one of the better-class neighborhoods.

The house was taken in the name of his wife, African folk singer Miriam Makeba, and the payment was made in cash. The house is located at 4331 Blagden Avenue, off upper 16th street in the Crestwood area.

Carmichael met Miriam Makeba in Tanzania last winter where Miss Makeba was having her passport renewed. She is a native of that country. Carmichael was on a tour of Africa, making anti-American speeches.

The American embassy in nearby Zambia entertained Miriam Makeba on her trip and came under some criticism from American tourists because, following her concert at the embassy, she attended a rally for Stokely Carmichael which featured anti-American songs. She later gave the explanation that she had sat in the audience while Carmichael spoke, and that, after he had finished, the audience started to chant "Makeba, Makeba," demanding that she do a

New Leftspeak Examination

WASHINGTON—"Good Morning, gentlemen. This is the oral examination in new leftspeak and, as you know, is the only examination being permitted on campus this spring by the student ad hoc committee on programming for the millennium. Now if you all have your jaws limbered up, we will begin. What do we call the three organizations, Archer, that are to blame for the way the world is?"

"The establishment, the power elite and the white power structure."

"And what kind of democracy do these organizations militate against?"

"Participatory democracy. Through highly structured institutional patterns reinforced by an uncommitted technological bureaucracy and a depersonalized hierarchical management system, they deny all men a voice in making the decisions that control their lives."

"Well spoken, Archer. You have a gift for the abstruse latinate polysyllabic that should insure your frequent exposure in the New York Review. What must a man be, Harlequin?"

"A man must be involved, engaged and committed."

"And if he is not?"

"He is a flunk. He has coped out. He has opted for middle-class affluence."

"Which accounts for what dreadful condition among his children, Shuster?"

"Alienation, co-optation by the establishment."

"Communism, anti-communism, reformism, liberalism, socialism, Uncle Tomism, militarism, nationalism, industrialism and puritanism. All have been thoroughly discredited by the residue of psychic trauma they have left at the very core of American life."

"Not the very core of American life, Shuster. The very heart and core of American life. The use of understate-ment in new leftspeak is tantamount to co-optation. Now, Phelps, would you please overstate in one word the story of America's history?"

"Genocide, sir."

"Excellent. What odious organism has proved in our time to be the principal beneficiary of our long and disgraceful history of genocide?"

ART BUCHWALD

The Simple Solution

WASHINGTON — Gov. Ronald Reagan, the only leading non-candidate in the race for the Republican presidential nomination, is getting as much press coverage as Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and more than former Vice President Richard Nixon. The reason for this is that Gov. Reagan is almost as quotable as Barry Goldwater. Just the other day he attacked the Administration for making foreign affairs too complex. He was quoted in a speech in Florida as saying:

"I ran for public office on the basis that common sense, not complexity, is needed at the top of the Administration. . . . I am equally unimpressed with all all this talk about our problems being too complex, too intricate to allow for timely decision and action." Then, to give an example of what he meant, he said the United States should tell the enemy in North Vietnam to co-operate at the peace table or threaten to "kick the devil out of him."

I showed this statement to an Administration official who was flabbergasted. "My heavens, why didn't we think of that?" "Because it takes a simple man to come up with a simple solution," I said.

The official immediately got on the phone and called the State Department.

"Harry, listen, I want to ask you something on the Vietnam problem. Has anyone over there ever thought of telling the North Vietnamese that if they didn't co-operate we would kick the devil out of them? . . . They haven't? Well, why don't we try it? . . . Of course, it's a brilliant suggestion. I wouldn't have made it if it hadn't been . . . What's that? You think I ought to call the Pentagon and clear it with them? . . . Right?"

My friend called the Pentagon. "General, the White House here. Listen, we thought we might attack this Vietnam problem from a much more simple approach. What would you think if we told Hanoi that if they didn't straighten up and fly right, we'd kick the devil out of them? . . . You like that, huh? What's that? There are a few complications? What are they, General? . . . You have to get the Viet Cong out of Saigon first? . . . Right. The North Vietnamese have to stop shelling the cities? . . . I understand. You've got to clear out the DMZ? . . . Right. . . . And then you have to find the North Vietnamese to kick the devil out of them? But you do like the idea in principle?"

"Well, why don't you rework your strategy? . . . Because first you have to get the South Vietnamese army in better shape? I understand. . . . You can't do it unless the Saigon government makes many needed reforms? . . . The pacification program has to be started again? . . . See here, General, it seems to me that you're making a complex problem out of a simple one. All we want you to do is kick the devil out of the North Vietnamese. Is that too much to ask? . . . No, I'm not going to tell you who suggested it. All I can say is it's someone with one of the greatest simple minds in the country."

He hung up. "I guess I'd better call Harriman," he said. "Ave, the White House here. Listen, how are the negotiations going? . . . Very complicated, huh? Well, we were thinking of simplifying them. Why don't you tell the North Vietnamese if they don't agree to what we have in mind, we'll kick the devil out of them? What do you mean that's what THEY told you this morning? They can't do that. It was our idea first. Well, if they threaten to kick the devil out of us and we threaten to kick the devil out of them, it's going to really complicate the negotiations."

"I know, Ave. I realize negotiating with the North Vietnamese is not easy, but if we don't come up with a simple solution, we're going to be in trouble in November. We've got to answer Reagan's attacks on our foreign policy. . . . What's that? . . . Why don't we tell Reagan to . . . now you know, Averell, that's too simple."

Market Turns In Lackluster Showing

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—Stock prices turned in a disappointing performance for the fourth consecutive Monday.

Closing quotations on the New York Stock Exchange showed 662 stocks had advanced while 665 declined and 202 finished unchanged.

The market's lackluster showing was attributed mainly to Friday's news that consumer loan interest rates had been raised. This would make loans more expensive and would increase the borrowing costs for buyers of automobiles, new homes and major appliances.

Volume eased to 12.72 million shares, from 13.3 million shares on Friday. A sharp reduction in large-block trades accounted for the lower volume.

The price uncertainty also stemmed from the lack of apparent progress in the Paris peace talks and the heavy fighting in Vietnam. Many brokers continued to advise their clients to remain on the sidelines pending congressional action on a tax increase and a reduction in federal expenditures.

Pending such action many institutions have been selling certain portions of their portfolios in order to remain in a highly liquid position. This selling has included many investment grade issues and has been a factor in depressing key market averages.

One of the blue-chip issues that has felt this pressure is American Telephone. The stock fell today to its lowest point since 1960, closing at 48 1/2, off 1/2. Its low in 1960 was 55 3/4. Its high this year was 55 3/4. The issue was the second most actively traded Monday.

A spokesman for one of the leading brokerage firms said the decline of telephone was a reaction to rising money rates plus interest in more speculative capital gain-oriented issues.

The volume leader Monday, for the second consecutive session was Glen Alden, a diversified manufacturing company, which eased 1/2, to 15 1/2. On Friday, the company reported that it had asked the Securities and Exchange Commission to accelerate its proposed registration covering securities to be used in a planned tender offer for stock of Schenley Industries, the liquor company.

The weaker tone of the market was also reflected by the leading stock averages. The Dow-Jones Industrial average closed at 891.60, down 3.68 points. The big board's composite index eased 0.07, to 54.56, while Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dipped 0.16 point to 96.99. The New York Times combined average finished at 531.87, down 2.25.

Varian Associates was one of the standout performers, soaring 5 1/2, to 33 1/2 following the news that the company has started marketing a new plating process.

Prices ended mixed for companies engaged in the mining of precious metals. Campbell Red Lakes Mines fell 1 1/2, to 38 1/2; Dome Mines, slipped 1 1/4, to 65 1/2 and Homestake dipped 1/2, to 79. On the upside, Sunshine Mining added 2, to 55 3/4; and Callahan Mining advanced 1/2, to 28 1/2.

The best gain in the railroad group was made by Florida East Coast which roared ahead 4 3/4, to a new closing 1968 high of 23. Earlier in the day it traded as high as 23 3/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices advanced in very active trading. A total of 9,367,195 shares changed hands, making it the third most active day in the history of the exchange. Of a total, 512 stocks advanced, 367 declined and 133 were unchanged.

The Amex Index advanced 22 cents to $27.93.

The most active issue was Continental Materials, which advanced 3/8 to 5. Siboney rose 3/8 to 3 3/8 to capture the second most active slot.

Equity Corporation gained 1/4 to 8 1/4 despite an announcement of a slight decline in assets, to take the third most active position.

The over-the-counter was active and higher. The National Quotation Bureau's index of industrial stocks advanced 2.46 to 394.21.

How good is your instinct for investing?

"I'm a stock broker. Here are 4 common investment situations and a quick, easy way to test how well you might handle them."

QUESTION 1: You've been thinking that common stocks might help take care of your future. One day, a friend offers to let you in on a "great deal," but you have to act fast. Would you do it?

ANSWER: The "rush" sign is your cue to pause. Does the stock complement your investment goal? For instance, a second income from dividends might be best for you. (Take its dividend record into account.) Or perhaps your goal is to let your money grow along with the economy. (Ask a broker with a member firm of the New York Stock Exchange for his opinion of the company's prospects.) Or possibly you're mainly interested in preserving your capital over the long term, plus a good, steady interest payment. (You might look at high-grade bonds.) Ask a registered representative to explain the risks as well as rewards, and to help you reason out a sensible investment program.

QUESTION 2: You think a certain stock has possibilities for growth. You decide to buy some. If you use your emergency fund, you could buy more. Would you do it?

ANSWER: Smart investors don't invest money they'll need for living expenses and emergencies. Don't turn a reasonable risk into a foolish one by over-extending yourself.

QUESTION 3: Your wife agrees investing is a great way of providing for the future. She's practical so she feels you should get facts first. Your impulse is to buy right away before the price of the stock goes up. Would you follow your impulse?

ANSWER: Smart wife. Take time to get facts from a member firm. Ask about the company's earnings, dividends, position in its industry. What you decide to buy, and when, should also be considered in the light of current prices and market conditions.

QUESTION 4: "What difference does it make which broker I use?" you ask. Would you let it go at that and use the first one you come across?

ANSWER: Don't let it go "at that." Consider a member firm of the Exchange. Member firm brokers had to meet Exchange requirements when registered to serve the public. No broker is infallible, but his information and point of view may be just what you need to help your own judgment along.

"THAT OLD GANG OF MINE" could quite appropriately be called the theme song of a remarkable class — the 1913 graduating class of the old Sugar Grove High School. The class, numbering seven, held its first reunion in 1950 — the annual reunions began in 1960 and each one has had a perfect attendance. This year the six ladies and the one male member of the class will gather at the home of Mrs. Hazel Kelley of Bemus Point, N.Y. on June 8th and 9th. The first evening they will attend the Northern Area Alumni Association (and predecessors) banquet at the Brokenstraw Fish and Game Club, Mr. Lloyd Swanson who sent the note from his home at 1518 Miller road, Castleton-on-Hudson, New York, 12033, said "I am looking forward to my annual sojourn back in that beautiful valley and the village of Sugar Grove where I was born and spent my early days. It is ever interesting and most delightful."

A CHICKEN BAR-B-Q is being served on Memorial Day at the Lander United Methodist Church — The delicious home cooked dinner will be served from 12 noon until 7 p.m. Tickets are $1.75 for adults and for children under 12 it will be 85 cents. The barbecue is for the benefit of the church building fund.

OPENING NIGHT FOR PLOWRIGHT PLAYHOUSE is on Tuesday, June 12th at 8:30. "Come Back Little Sheba" is the feature which will introduce the second season of the local straw hat theatre situated atop the scenic Scandia Mountains. Once again, Adele and Chuck Tranter will host the opening night Champagne Party which is free to all who attend the play. Season tickets at $6 are being sold until Sunday, June 10th at the newstands — one more play will be given this year than last, the final one being a musical. The tickets may be used by one person who wants to see all six of the season's offerings, or, just to illustrate, one may decide to see the first play and take five guests. (Single tickets will be sold after the 10th, but at $2 per play.) Special lighting has been provided for this year, Plowright Players bought the Jamestown Community College lighting system; and, another asset will be Perry Lee, formerly of Cleveland Playhouse, who has joined the staff as technical director. The stars in "Come Back Little Sheba" are Dick Andersen and Lois Byham, and featured is Ellen Abrams of Boston University. Reservations are necessary in order to ensure a seat — Call 757-3252, or, 723-3284.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell me what to do before I take a whole bottle of tranquilizers at once. Our 17-year-old son Rudolph was always a model boy. Since the first-grade teachers complimented me on how well Rudolph conducted himself. The neighbors raved about his mannerliness. The minister said he was a "splendid lad." And then THIS had to happen. Four months ago Rudolph started to date a girl named Karen. You have to see this girl to believe it. She is under five feet tall and 110 lbs. She doesn't weigh 85 pounds. (Rudolph is 6'3".) Karen has black hair which is hacked off and looks like rats have chewed at her. She also has a hot temper and a big mouth. This peanut orders Rudolph around like he was a dog. What burns me up is he stands for it.

Last night at dinner Karen told Rudolph to leave the table and go clean his fingernails. I thought I'd collapse. He said, "I'm sorry," and followed her instructions. Rudolph acts like he doesn't have a mother anymore. I've told him this girl is a bossy little snip and to drop her. He ignores me completely. Please, Ann, tell me what to do. — TEARING MY HAIR OUT

DEAR TEARING: The more you knock the girl the more Rudolph will defend her. Keep quiet and eventually he may become interested in someone who is not so overpowering. Right now he can't drop her even if he wanted to because it would look like your idea and not his.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was 18 I had a child out of wedlock. Two years later I married a wonderful man. We now have four children. Everyone believes I was married and divorced at 18. My husband knows the truth, however. I told him (at the minister's insistence) three months before we married.

The problem is that my oldest son will soon be 13 years of age. I have a strong inclination to tell the boy about his real father, but I can't seem to get the words out. (He believes the divorce story.) Whenever I start to tell him the truth I change the subject. I want the boy's respect and I'm afraid if he knew the truth he might think I was a bad woman. Please tell me what to say to him. — ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: There is no reason for your son to be told he was born out of wedlock. Your husband is the only father he knows.

You have told the man you married and he is the only person who needs to know. Now forget it.

Do you feel ill at ease... out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MRS. C. WAYNE KIPPLE
(Cancellino of Herkimer)

Nuptials Solemnized In Herkimer, N.Y. Church

Miss Gloria Jean Sennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George I. Sennett, of 308 Steuben street, Herkimer, New York, became the bride of C. Wayne Kipple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Kipple, of R.D. 2, Sugar Grove, Pa., at 11:00 a.m. May 25th, in St. Francis de Sales Church, Herkimer, New York.

The Rev. Vincent Colgan, assistant pastor, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of white gladioli and pink carnations in spray arrangements. Mrs. Gilbert Hammond, organist, accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Vicki Ameduri.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of peau de sole. Her skirt and bodice were trimmed in Alencon lace and the Watteau train of peau de sole was edged in Alencon lace scalloping. Her headpiece of aurora borealis crystals, seed pearls and lace petals held a chapel length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of pearly stephanotis, white carnations, with touches of pink miniature carnations in the center, and ivy.

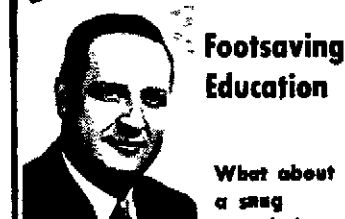

The maid of honor, Miss Barbara Sullivan, of Syracuse, N.Y., roommate of the bride, wore a gown of mauve pink karate. Her headpiece was a floral cluster of pink daisies which secured a circular veil. She carried a cascade of variegated pink carnations.

Gowned identically to the honor attendant were the bridesmaids, Miss Margaret DeNigro, of Herkimer, cousin of the bride; Miss Nance Wood, of Bolivar, N.Y.; Miss Nancy Wilcox and Miss Sandra Wilcox, of Rochester, N.Y.; Miss Vivian Licari, of Frankfurt, N.Y., cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Georgiann Calafrancesco, of Canandaigua, N.Y., sister of the bride. Each carried a cascade of pink and white carnations. Mistress Debra Calafrancesco, of Canandaigua, N.Y., niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a gown similarly fashioned, and a headpiece of fresh flowers of variegated pink carnations. She carried a lace basket filled with the same kind of flowers.

John Sarver, of Rochester, N.Y., served as best man. Ushers were, Robert Serio, of Rochester, N.Y.; Richard Curtiss, of Buffalo, N.Y.; Rick Ludwig, of Indiana, Penna.; Roger Davis, of Rochester, N.Y.; Terry Doherty, of Rochester, N.Y.; and Alfred Calafrancesco, of Canandaigua, N.Y., brother-in-law of the bride. Master David Calafrancesco, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a hot pink crepe dress and coat ensemble, and matching pink accessories. The groom's mother wore a Nile green coat and sheath dress ensemble with beige accessories. Each had a corsage of white carnations in the center. Mrs. Jennie Nardelli, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Lillian Kipple, grandmother of the groom, were registered.

If the Shoe Fits... James R. Valone

Footsaver
Education

What about a snug
heel fit?

We have discussed length and width fitting at the ball of the foot. The next thing the professional shoe fitter looks for is the heel fit of the shoe. A loose heel fit will usually result in blisters, run-down heels, and rotating heels.

In better grade shoes, the heel width will usually be two widths narrower than the ball of the foot — so that a B width shoe will have a AA heel. Lower grade shoes may have the heel width only one width narrower. A professional shoe fitter recognizes the problems in heel fitting. He knows what particular shoes have narrower fitting heels than others. With this knowledge he can allow generous toe room with a snug fitting heel.

Another factor a professional shoe fitter watches is heel bone cut. Sometimes the shoe is cut too high on the outside, causing a painful blister or cut under the ankle bone. This is usually corrected by a heel pad or the selection of a lower cut shoe at the heel.

6th Grade Going To Niagara Falls

At the final meeting for this season of the Allegheny Valley Teacher-Parent Group all projects were reported, among them the planned trip to Niagara Falls on June 6, for the Sixth grade. Homeroom mothers were asked to make arrangements for the class picnic to be held on the same day.

It was voted to help support the school crossing patrol next year; also that committee members have refreshments donated for the meetings next year. Mrs. Gretchen Tingwall, outgoing president, received several program suggestions for the coming year. She expressed gratitude to the committees for their loyal support along with teachers and members who made it a very successful year. Mrs. Tingwall then installed the slate of officers for 1968-69 including the new president, Mrs. Lorraine Barr.

At the opening of the meeting, devotions were conducted by Mrs. Stanley Albaugh. At the close, refreshments were served to the large number of people present by Second grade mothers: Mrs. Douglas Flick, Mrs. Chester Walker and Mrs. Betty McCracken.

WHOLE-HOUSE GAS AIR CONDITIONING COSTS $14.00 A MONTH TO OWN!

Probably the reason some people are still going for those roaring wind-tunnels called window air conditioners is that they haven't heard how little it costs to own whole-house Gas air conditioning.

Hear it now: Fourteen dollars a month — or less — not only buys a powerful three-ton capacity Gas central air conditioning system, but installs it, too. And there's no down payment.

Does the low price surprise you? It shouldn't, when you consider that a compact Gas air conditioner attaches to your present Gas furnace, converting it instantly into a matched heating-cooling team. Gas air conditioning is the quietest, longest-lived and most trouble-free of any central home-cooling system. And economical Gas can cool your whole house, every room, for a fraction of the cost of keeping a flock of noisy one-room air conditioners in electricity.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Here's a hint for those who like a hot cereal in the morning — that can be prepared right after supper the night before.

Fill a wide-mouthed thermos bottle with hot water, put in the cork and set the bottle aside.

Cook your hot cereal thoroughly.

Instead of pouring it in your bowl (as you would ordinarily the next morning), pour the water out of the thermos and put the cereal in the bottle!

Cork and cap the bottle firmly and lay it on its side on a towel (so it won't roll) on the drainboard.

That's all there is to it. In the morning you will have a hot, thoroughly cooked cereal ready in an instant.

Heloise Fan

That's what I call a "corker" for morning lazybones like me. If you pour coffee in another thermos you've really got it made.

Better yet: Sometimes put them on your bedside table and have breakfast in bed!

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Before putting new ticking on my pillows, I make a bag the size of the pillow out of cheesecloth. (Use two layers if you like.) Then put the feathers in the bag. It's easier to put the bag in the new ticking and I don't have feathers all around.

Also, I find I change to new ticking more often now because it's less trouble.

Mrs. Edward Barnes

DEAR HELOISE:

When my husband changes the oil in his car, he pours the old oil along our fence row to kill unwanted grass and weeds.

Sure beats that back-breaking, hand-chipping job of trimming around the edges.

E. L. P.

DEAR HELOISE:

This hint is particularly nice because it saves time when it is needed most—in the morning while dressing.

The next time you wash your underclothes, have a few plastic bags on your folding table.

Instead of putting slips together, lay them in a row. With each one, put a pair of hose, etc., until you have a complete set of underclothing.

Now put each set in a plas-

St. Michael's Notes

Next Sunday is Pentecost Sunday which will be observed in St. Michael Catholic Church, Sheffield, and all other Catholic Churches. The day commemorates the descent of the Holy Ghost upon the Apostles; appearing in the form of "parted tongues of fire," their minds were enlightened and they were enabled to go forth and preach Christ's Word to all nations, all continents and all races. This feast has been observed in the Church since apostolic times. On Pentecost churches and homes of the Eastern Rite are decorated with green branches and flowers. This ancient custom originates in the Jewish tradition of adorning their homes in remembrance of the law which God gave them on Mount Sinai through Moses. Monday, June 3, is the Feast of the Holy Trinity, reminding the faithful that the Holy Ghost is equal to the Father and to the Son, for there is but one God in three divine Persons. The Choral Divine Liturgy will be sung at 9 a.m., and the Spoken Liturgy will be celebrated at 7 p.m.

The Divine Liturgy of Memorial Day will be sung at 7:30 a.m. in the church, followed by Choral Commemorations on individual graves per request in the cemetery after the public civic ceremonies, which should be around 10 a.m.

Miss Halyna "Hally" Vynohradnyk graduated with honors from the Electrical-Engineering Institute of Detroit in April, receiving a diploma as an electronics engineer. It is the first time in the history of this institution that an electronics degree in engineering was awarded to a woman. The engineer is a member of Immaculate Conception Ukrainian Rite Church in Detroit.

The bidding:
East South West North
1♣ 1♠ 4♣ 4♠
5♣ Pass 5♣ 5♠
Dble. Pass Pass Pass

An imaginative and intelligent bid by East paid off for a good result when this hand was dealt in a recent tournament.

The first round of bidding was virtually the same at every table. When North bid four spades, East was confronted with a problem. Some felt that they had been outbid, and since North appeared to be sacrificing against the heart game, East chose to double in an attempt to gain whatever compensation was available. This proved to be a regrettable choice for his side.

The opening lead against five spades doubled was invariably the ace of hearts which was ruffed by North. Declarer was able to establish the diamond suit for three discards by ruffing out West's queen. South was assured of either one or two overtricks, depending on whether or not East decided to cash his ace of clubs when he was in with the high trump. If he does not take his ace, South can ruff out his three hearts and then discard all his clubs on the established diamonds.

At some tables, East was not certain to whose side the hand belonged and when North bid four spades, East decided to take out insurance by persisting to five hearts. Where his opponents permitted him to buy the hand, he made his contract by finessing North for the king of clubs. His only losers were two diamond tricks. Where North chose to sacrifice at five spades East doubled, and the defenders suffered a catastrophe when West led the ace of hearts.

At only one table did North and South incur a setback. Here too East recognized the necessity for bidding again over four spades, but he went one step further. Realizing that his opponents might persist to five spades, he decided to take the opportunity available to him to suggest a lead to partner.

It could cost him nothing since hearts had been re-soundingly agreed on as a trump suit, so East bid five clubs West returned to five hearts and when North carried on to five spades, East doubled. His message had indeed registered with West, and the latter opened a club instead of the ace of hearts. This permitted the defense to quickly cash two clubs tricks and the ace of spades subsequently sent the declarer down to a one trick defeat.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR TUESDAY, MAY 28, 1968.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Rewards for your efforts may not be immediate, some not attainable at all. Work to gain in other ways. Certain matters mature slowly, require more attention, so be patient.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—A big success factor lies within your own personality and attitude toward the day's situations. Start with, and maintain the will to "get along," and you will.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Improvement indicated in several areas, but there's still much to be achieved in others. You can accomplish a great deal by stressing your individuality, but don't go to extremes.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Auspicious lunar influences, but don't go heedlessly into orbit! Steady, serene action will build a solid foundation from which wiser future moves can be planned.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Emotions could get out of hand if not watched. Let no interruptions keep you from the road that is truly yours.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—New opportunities indicated, but some may call for close inspection before you decide on acceptance. Avoid engaging in useless disputes. Be consistent, at ease.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—This should be a smooth-running day if you do not look for difficulty. Put forth your best efforts, express your fine ideas -- AND have confidence in yourself.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Be careful of your budget and in domestic circles, don't use explosive tactics. Investigate suggested investments. Don't fret or fear outcomes; day should work out well.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Your view may NOT be correct, so listen to others, and heed advice of older or more experienced heads. Avoid changeability.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Maintain your enthusiasm. Regular work and business matters may seem slow in producing, but your sound efforts will soon corral results. Don't spend foolishly.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—If you are at the halfway mark in any project, do not give up the vigilance and zest that motivated you at first, or you may offset the progress already made. Some new advantages indicated.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Fine Neptune influences should stimulate all your interests now. Show your capabilities in best light; function with ease. YOU BORN TODAY are often seemingly lighthearted when others are solemn, but your keen mind is always alerted to undercurrents. You are always alert, also, to new ideas and means for achieving and, while buoyant by nature, you can be very serious, too. You tend to unorthodox methods and shortcuts, but if you will be patient and not too hasty, you will make unusual progress and build the lasting type of success for which Gemini-ans are renowned. You could succeed as an editor, reporter or advertising writer; in the commercial world as a traveler; would also make an excellent musician. How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

+ DIVERTICULAR POCKETS
The latest treatment for diverticular disease is a high-residue diet and bulk-forming laxatives. The idea is to keep the intestine full, especially when spasm coexists. Diverticuli (ices) are small pockets bulging from the wall of the large intestine. They pop out in the weakest part of the wall, where blood vessels perforate the intestine to reach the inner lining.

What makes the sacs protrude? This occurs when pressure within the intestine is increased by contractions or spasms of the muscular wall. Fill a long rubber balloon with dough or raw hamburger. Hold it in the hand and squeeze. In all probability, it will not balloon out from the pressure of the fist.

Now fill it with water or air and squeeze. If the balloon has many weakened spots, protrusions will be seen on both sides of the hand. This helps to explain why diverticuli are less likely to develop when the colon is full and spasm is minimal.

These ties rarely cause distress. Some people harbor hundreds and are none the wiser, so long as the sacs do not become irritated or infected (diverticulitis). Diverticuli usually are found in the descending part of the large intestine on the lower left side of the abdomen. Pain and tenderness ensue when they are inflamed. Fever and an elevated white blood count, symptoms similar to those found in appendicitis, are common.

Treatment includes bed rest, along with antibiotics, sedatives, and a relaxant, such as Pro-Banthine. Surgery (removal of the involved segment) is needed by one victim in 20.

TOMORROW: Another Royal Malady.

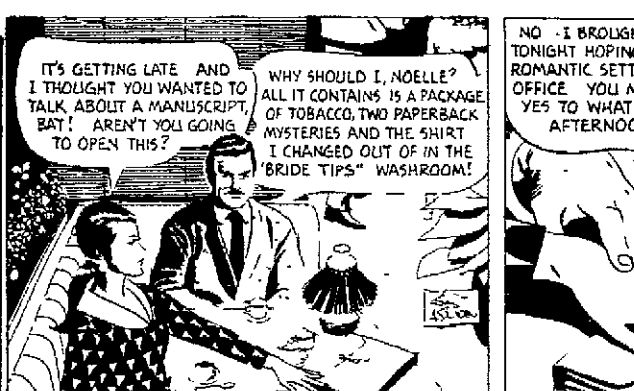

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

+ CAUSES OF SCIATICA
D. G. writes: Is a protruding disk the only cause of sciatica?
REPLY
No, but pressure on the spinal cord and nerve roots by a protruding disk is the most common cause of sciatica. Pressure also may stem from tumor, arthritis, or injury to the spine. Degeneration or infection of the sciatic nerve also may be associated with diabetes, alcoholism, arsenic poisoning, arteriosclerosis, or faulty diet.

+ WHITE MOUTH PATCHES
W.P. writes: What causes white patches on the inner cheeks?
REPLY
Leukoplakia is caused by local irritation, such as from excessive smoking or poorly-fitting dentures. These white spots are regarded as precancerous and should be treated if they do not disappear when the irritant is removed. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this disorder.

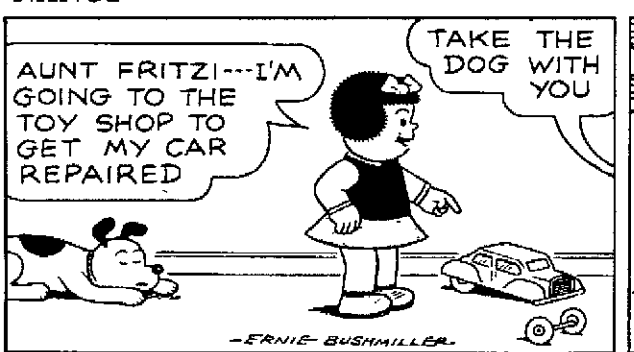

+ RETARDING LOSS OF HAIR
R.V.E. writes: Can anything be done to retard the loss of hair? I was told that there isn't. Please advise.
REPLY
There are many causes of hair loss. Furthermore, very little can be done if baldness is the result of an hereditary trait. Tufts of hair can be grafted into the scalp, but this is time-consuming and expensive. In addition, if the transplanted tufts are predestined to fall out, out they will come.

Montreal and San Diego Named In National League Expansion

CHICAGO (AP) — Montreal and San Diego were awarded National League baseball franchises Monday night at the cost of $10 million each, effective for the 1969 season.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, called it "the most important decision the league has made since allowing the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers to move to the West Coast."

"Pros and cons of expansion of all five represented cities were taken into full consideration," said Giles, "it was a very difficult decision."

Cities losing out were Buffalo, Dallas-Fort Worth and Milwaukee.

The NL moguls started their meeting at 10:45 a.m., CDT, and didn't announce their final decision until 9 p.m., CDT.

Giles said the $10 million purchase price for each club included an immediate sharing in the national television game of the week and the World Series television contract.

Giles said the vote accepting San Diego and Montreal followed "1 judge 16, 17 or 18 ballots."

The National League president said nothing was decided on a split schedule under the 12-club lineup.

"We are awaiting a discussion meeting with the American League Tuesday morning and then we will meet again on the schedule setup," Giles said.

Giles said that all five bidding cities were desirable and made excellent representations, but, he added:

"The feeling of the league was that if two new teams were added they should not be in the same general section of the country."

This apparently was the reason Dallas-Fort Worth was knocked out of contention. Located some 270 miles from the Houston Astros, the highly regarded Dallas-Fort Worth bid apparently was rejected in the marathon balloting.

"If you are going to expand, let's spread out," said Giles. "Montreal is a growing and vibrant city."

"Buffalo made a fine presentation and was a difficult area to exclude."

Asked if more than one vote blocked out Dallas-Fort Worth, Giles said, "Yes." Asked how many, he said, "I'm not at liberty to say."

Why was Milwaukee not selected? "Milwaukee is only 85.90 miles away from two major league clubs in Chicago," said Giles.

Giles then was asked if the possibility of antitrust legislation entered in the meeting considering that several United States cities were excluded in favor of Montreal. "Not a bit," he said.

The Dallas-Fort Worth people let it be known that they would not cease in their efforts to gain a major league franchise. Under the present setup, their goal apparently will be to get an American League team into the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Giles pointed out that excellent playing facilities already exist in San Diego, which has a new $28 million stadium seating 45,000.

Montreal, with Expo Stadium now seating 26,000, will have completed a new domed stadium.

dium seating 40,000 by 1971, Giles said.

San Diego, long considered a cinch for a new NL franchise, will be backed by a group headed by E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi, executive vice president and general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, and C. Arnholt Smith, a banker and owner of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League.

Two Alous Running True, Third Alou Is Very Blue

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the baseball-playing Alou brothers are still running as an entry in the National League's Top Ten. But Pittsburgh's Matty appears to be the best bet to finish among the first three again.

Matty Alou has climbed into second place in the batting Bavasi had the blessing of his San Diego venture from Dodger owner Walt O'Malley.

Gerry Snyder, representing the Montreal City Council, said, "I was surprised the decision didn't come earlier."

Snyder disclosed that the head of the Montreal group is Jean Levesque, a financier who also is owner of the Blue Bonnet Raceway. Snyder also said there is no hockey money involved in the Montreal baseball operation.

Montreal has not had baseball since 1960, when it was a member of the International League.

Bavasi, who still is working for the Dodgers, said, "We'll have to work out the details of leaving the Dodgers and putting together a club in San Diego."

The American, last year 42 then placed third last season with a .338 mark. In 1965, his final year with San Francisco, Matty had only a .231 average. The Pirates obtained him Dec. 1, 1965 for pitcher Joe Gibbon and catcher-infielder Ozzie Virgil.

Jesus Alou of the Giants, the youngest of the brothers from the Dominican Republic, is hitting only .233.

The Pirates' Alou is at .330 followed by Curt Flood of St. Louis and Rusty Staub of Houston in a third place deadlock at .329. Alex Johnson of Cincinnati is fifth at .315. Then come Billy Williams, Chicago, .308, Jerry Grote, New York Mets, Felipe Alou of Atlanta and Willie McCovey, San Francisco, .302 each.

Flood lost 21 points by collecting only seven hits in 30 tries last week. Staub moved up 10 points with nine safeties in 23 at bats. Johnson fell six points with a 7-for-25 showing. Felipe Alou dropped 18 points.

Belmont Stakes Field May Have 10 Horses

NEW YORK (AP) — A possible field of 10 shaped up Monday for the 100th running of the famed Belmont Stakes at the new Belmont Park Saturday.

Forward Pass and Dancer's Image top the field in the 1½-mile classic, closing leg of the triple crown. The Belmont clash follows their previous meetings in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

Cragsword Stable's Jig Time, who had been considered a possibility, was declared out of the race by trainer Mack Miller.

Dancer's Image, disqualified from first place in the Kentucky Derby and from third place in the Preakness, worked out six furlongs in 1:13 2/5 Monday. Owner Peter Fuller was on hand and expressed pleasure with the work.

Forward Pass, Calumet Farm's hope for the first Triple Crown winner in 20 years, breezed a mile in 1:41 last Saturday and will be given a three-eighths blowout Wednesday or Thursday by trainer Henry Forrest.

If the field of 10 materializes, the Belmont would gross $162,700 with $118,950 to the winner.

In the costume class, Marian Wolfe and Mary Loucks won first; Rocky Nelson, most original, and Kirsten Swanson, prettiest, Carol Fredericks of Warren was the judge for events.

Results follow: Advanced division, equitation, Marian Wolfe, Joann Hellman, Kim Ettinger, Class 1; Jennifer Gray, Ellen Zetterlind, Judy Albaugh, Class II.

Break Your Gait and Out, Joann Hellman, Debbie Dummire, Wendy Mead, Class 1; Judy Albaugh, Kim Ettinger, Dorothy Dickey, Class II; Bareback, Judy Albaugh, Marian Wolfe, Dorothy Dickey.

Beginners Division, Rose DeFabio, Pat Gibney, Tracey Templeton, Class 1; Ricky Loucks, Rocky Nelson, Arie Nelson, Class II.

Break Your Gait and Out, Pat Gibney, Rose DeFabio, Glory Colbin; Stick to the Saddle, Laurie Bloomer, Rose DeFabio, Rocky Nelson, Class 1; Kirsten Swanson, Jerry Ely, Joe Ely, Class II.

Pat Gibney was beginners grand champion.

Blackmer Continues Win Streak at Local Tracks

Ronnie Blackmer continues his winning streak at the local tracks capturing three of the four main features held over the week-end.

Blackmer made history Saturday night as he scored his second double victory of the season by capturing both the Sportsmen and Late Model features before a throng of fans numbering well over 6,000.

Sunday night the racing "ace" scored his third victory in a row in the Sportsman class but was beaten easily in the Late Model division as Clyde Porter drove into the victory spot.

The local lead-foot managed to stay out of the major mishaps that caused both features to be stopped Saturday night. Piloting his '67 Chevelle and his ever-popular sportsman into their second win in three days.

Chuck Vorse of Erie took an early lead in the Late Model feature but was soon passed by Dick Litz. Blackmer waited until the 14th lap to make his bid as he passed Litz on the backstretch taking the lead from that point on. The "ace" lost his right front wheel on his Chevelle on the third turn of the last lap but managed to keep control of his auto capturing an easy win over Litz.

Blackmer started in the 32nd position in a field of 33 cars in the Sportsman class and after two laps held fifth position, taking over the lead on the third lap. Lyle Brown attempted to catch the Youngsville pilot but remained about 100 yards behind him for the last 20 laps.

The Hooligan victory came at the hands of John Weidmire on Saturday night with Sugar Grove's Bob Patch placing second. However, Patch captured the Hooligan class Sunday at Erie.

It was a sad night for Johnny Ditch, famed driver of U2 as he met a severe blow in the late model class on Sunday night that would melt the heart of even the hardest person. Ditch managed to lead the feature race until the final lap. With the victory almost in his pocket the never-win pilot was involved in a mishap with less than 100 yards to the finish line he was stopped, meaning he never actually completed 25 laps thus putting him in fifth spot, Clyde Porter, who was running second, went on to win the race.

Ron Blackmer found little competition in the sportsman class as he scored his third win in that division.

Dick Litz placed second in the late model division Sunday night

Kaline Disabled

DETROIT (AP) — Star outfielder Al Kaline was placed on the disabled list Monday by the Detroit Tigers.

Kaline suffered a fractured right forearm Saturday night when hit by a pitch by Lew Krausse of the Oakland Athletics at Oakland. Doctors at Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital confirmed the fracture Monday and placed a new cast on his arm.

RAIN AND FOG MAR OPENER

Through the mist and fog, and the fence behind home plate, the camera eye watches the opening game of the Warren City Softball League Monday night. The league opened its 45th year and Jim

McMeans got it off to a fast start by pitching Nichols U-Haul to a no-hit 7-0 win over Betts Machine. (Photo by Mahan)

Jim McMeans Has No-Hitter As City Softball Opens

By DAVE PIRILLO

Jim McMeans opened the City Softball League's season in fine style last night by tossing a no-hitter for Nichols U-Haul in a bid for a 7-0 thumping of Betts Machine Shop.

McMeans, in hurling his third master-piece of his career, allowed just four men to reach the base paths and one of which was via an error. It was the sixth no-hitter for the league in the last three years.

Rain cancelled the second game of the night between Warren Beverage and The Sons of Italy in the second inning with the Beveragers holding a commanding 3-0 lead.

The Tarantulas feasted on losing hurler Ken Sorensen in collecting ten hits. Bob Larson led the power parade with a two-run homer, while Dick White drove in a couple of runs with a 3-4 night.

Nichols started the long evening for Betts in the first inning when Larson's left field shot cleared the wall with Dick White on base. Just when it seemed that Betts recovered from the first inning the Tarantulas let loose again in the second.

A pair of bases on balls set up the picture for Dick White's two-run single into the left field gap. Tom Letrent added Nichols' fifth run by doubling home White.

Joe Muscaro's batsmen roared for the last time in the bottom of the fourth as Bob Ishmar's second double of the night drove in White and Letrent with the final runs.

McMeans' only real threat came in the fifth inning when he loaded the bases with a hit batsman and a pair of walks, but he killed Betts' hopes by fanning the next two.

The rained-out game will be re-scheduled for next Monday evening at 8 p.m. Tomorrow evening sees The Sons of Italy in battle with Nichols U-Haul.

Phils Lose Wine For Season

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Shortstop Bobby Wine will have a back operation Wednesday and will be lost to the Philadelphia Phillies for the rest of the season, a team spokesman said on Monday.

Wine, ailing for three seasons, will be operated on at Temple University Hospital for removal of a ruptured disc in the lower part of his back.

Dr. Frederick Murtaugh, who will do the surgery, said the specific area is "in the lumbar region of the back on the right side of the spine."

He said weekend tests proved this was the disc that has kept the brilliant shortstop out of action most of this season.

Coast Clashes

OAKLAND (AP) — Elston Howard's sacrifice fly broke a seventh inning deadlock and gave the Boston Red Sox a 3-2 victory over the Oakland Athletics Monday night.

Joe Foy drew a walk from Oakland right-hander John "Blue Moon" Odom to open the seventh, took second on a passed ball and third on Rico Petrocelli's sacrifice bunt before scoring on Howard's fly to left.

Detroit and California were tied, 6-6, going into the 10th inning of play at Anaheim.

Thompson Hurls Shutout

Brian Thompson hurled a shutout for Brownie and Young's last night as they clobbered Pennsylvania Bank and Trust 19-0. Thompson also came through at the plate smashing a homer and a triple.

Gail Smith snagged a double for the victors while Dan Johnson got a hold of two balls to crack crickets on both of them. Shawn Crippen collected the only other extra-base hit for the winners as he clubbed a three-bagger.

Bank Stands 2-0

The Sugar Grove Bank now stands 2-0 after downing the 4-L's last night 12-3. A pair of strong-arms, Dave Luper and Kevin Peterson, secured the win for the Bank. Dale Uacr suffered the loss for the 4-L's.

Autobody Nets Win

Warren Autobody netted a victory last night at the hands of Russo Plumbing by a score of 4-1. Pat Jerman hurled the win for Autobody sending 15 players back to the bench without a hit. Jerman also snagged a triple for the victory.

Support for the win was supplied by Gary Couder who went three-for-four and Churris Dutches who drove in two runs and snagged a pair of doubles.

Eisenhauer To Be Honored At Sheffield Sports Smoker

Major Stephen Eisenhauer, USMC, who is returning to his alma mater, Sheffield High School, to be commencement speaker, will be honored at a smoker Friday, June 7.

Halas Quits As Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — George S. Halas, 73, last of the National Football League's founding fathers, retired Monday as head football coach of the Chicago Bears—apparently for keeps.

Halas, who organized the Bears as the Decatur (Ill.) Staleys in 1920, said at a surprising news conference that his successor, presumably top assistant, 38-year-old Jim Dooley, will be named Tuesday.

Dooley, earlier this year named head offensive coach, retired as a Bear end in 1962 and has been regarded Halas' chief aide since George Allen left the Bears two years ago to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Dooley succeeded Allen as defensive coach in 1966 and last season introduced the highly-effective Dooley shift employing a fifth defensive back instead of a linebacker on passing situations.

Halas, who "retired" a dozen years ago, but only for the 1956 and 1957 seasons apparently to give old friend Paddy Driscoll a moment in the NFL sun, blended humor with admission to infirmities in his retirement announcement Monday.

Bulls Sign Dick Motta

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association signed to a two-year coaching contract Monday Dick Motta of Weber State College, who asserted "I won't be a rubber-stamp pro coach."

Motta, who was a scrub basketball player at Utah State, brings a 164-50 record for six major college seasons at Weber State of Ogden, Utah, in the Big Sky Conference.

Motta, 36, succeeds John (Red) Kerr, who recently quit the Bulls to become coach of the new Phoenix entry in the NBA.

St. Michael's Pavilion, Deerlick Run, Sheffield. The smoker will be informal and will be open to all sports fans, friends and alumni. A special invitation has been extended to former teammates at Sheffield High School. In 1946 and 1947, Sheffield had a 14 won, two lost, record.

The 1946 team was the last one coached by L. O. Eisenhauer, father of the honor guest. Coach Eisenhauer will be in Sheffield for the smoker. Major Eisenhauer will speak at the high school exercises.

Finnish Import Plans To Pole Vault at 18 Feet

Altti Alarotu is a 22-year old Finn who looks like Charlie Chaplin and pole vaults like Superman.

Alarotu, a freshman at Brigham Young University, already has cleared 17 feet and is aiming higher.

Altti, pronounced like salty, has become a serious challenger to pole vault king Bob Seagren of Southern California. Alarotu finished only four inches behind Seagren at last winter's Oregon invitational meet in Portland. Seagren cleared 17-4, Alarotu 17 feet.

Alarotu got his pole vaulting start when a track coach in his home town of Helsinki said he needed another athlete-performer a vaulter.

Alarotu, who wears a Chaplinesque moustache and can barely see his fiberglass pole without glasses, trained long and hard. He met Seagren at Finland's Royal Games in Helsinki.

"He taught me a few things," says Altti. "I'm still a little weak in my takeoff, but he helped that, too. I think I've got a good start."

Alarotu speaks only a few words of English. Most of his talking around campus is confined to "Hi" and "I like it here."

Usually, he talks through an interpreter. Three other Finns and one Swedish athlete also are on the university teams.

Alarotu last winter practiced daily inside BYU's massive, but dusty, indoorhouse. He also runs often in the crisp Utah weather to keep in shape. The mountains and streams, he says, reminds him of his home in Finland. How high can Altti go? "There's really no limit," says his coach, Clarence Robinson. "Altti has tremendous form, but he has a lot more to learn."

"I prefer outdoor vaulting," says Alarotu. "I think I can reach 18 feet outside and may 17-5 or 17-6 indoors if I have a good day." No one has topped 18 feet yet.

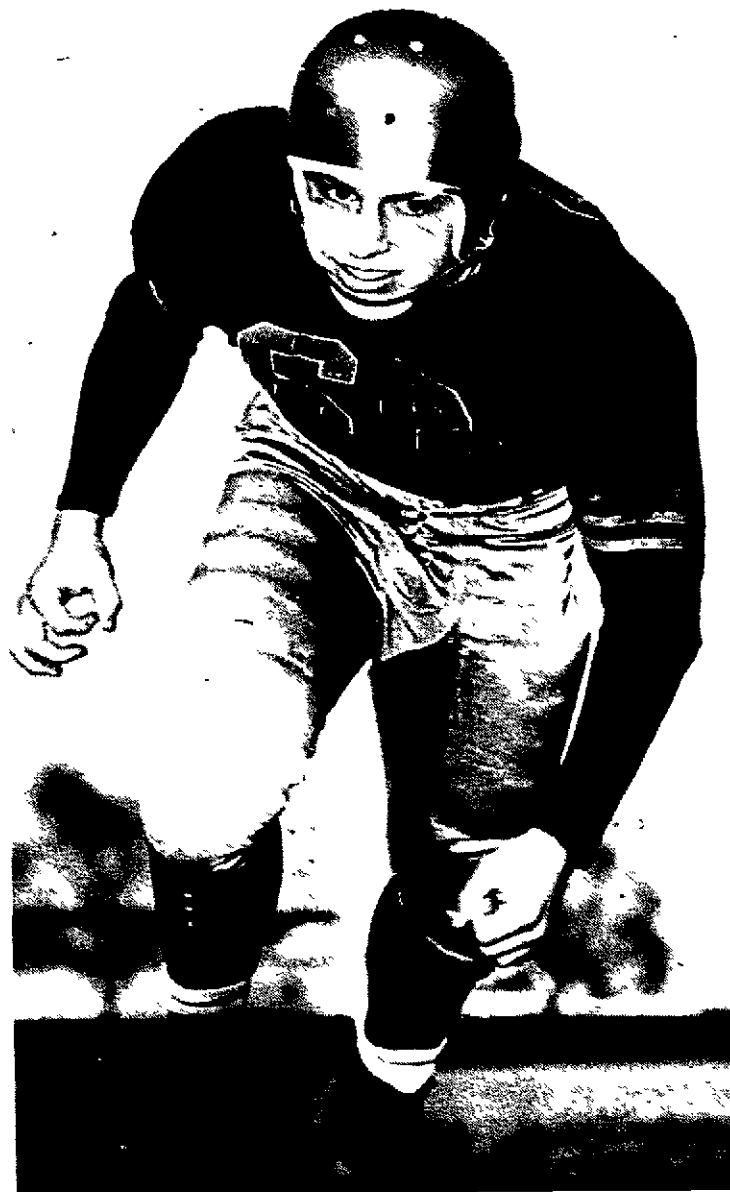

Alarotu and the other Finnish athletes came to BYU through the urging of Robert Peterson, a businessman and former Mormon missionary who makes frequent trips to Scandinavia. All of them say they like Utah and all hope to perform for Finland in the Olympics at Mexico City.

Robinson has three other Scandinavian athletes on the track team. All are sophomores. Pertti Pousi, the Finnish national long jump champion, already has soared 25-10 in the long jump and 53-1 in the triple jump.

Another Finn, Jakko Touminen, has run the high hurdles in an impressive time of 13.8. Crister Celton, a 21-year-old native of Karlshamn, Sweden, has cleared 7 feet in the high jump.

The best known of the Scandinavian athletes at BYU is basketball star Karl Liimo, 22-year-old junior from Helsinki. There could be two Finns in the lineup next season. Veikko Vaino, who stands 6-10 and weighs 230 pounds, is one of the top freshman players.

BYU officials say more Scandinavian athletes are on the way.

EISENHAUER AS ALL-AMERICAN

Major Stephen Eisenhauer, USMC, shown here in his football togs at the Naval Academy, will be honor guest at a Smoker June 7. LEGAL NOTICE

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF WARREN COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, MILDRED R. MERRY, FRANK HARDEK and DONNA L. HARDEK, his wife, versus C. F. KUHN and ALVA JEWELL, their respective heirs and assigns. No. 14 May Term, 1968.

ACTION TO QUIET TITLE
TO: The Defendants above named, their heirs and assigns, generally:

You are hereby notified that the Plaintiffs above-named have filed a Complaint against you at Court of Common Pleas of Warren County, Pennsylvania, averring that they are the owners of certain pieces or parcels of land situate in Springcreek Township, Warren County, Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows:

A. COMMENCING at a point in the center of the public road known in prior deeds as the Oil Creek Road; being the Southeast corner of the larger parcel of which the within described lot is a portion; thence Northerly along the center line of said road eighty-six (86) rods to a point; thence West along the residue of grantors' land twenty-eight (28) rods to a point; thence Southwesterly along an old fence line and residue of grantors' land ninety-four (94) rods to a point in the line of land formerly of Phillips; thence East along said Phillips line thirty-six (36) rods to the point, the place of beginning. Containing Sixty-six (66) Acres, more or less.

B. BEGINNING at the southwest corner of Tract No. 353, and at a stake in Fred Phillips north line; thence east and along Fred Phillips north line of 157.2 rods to the center of the Oil Creek Road; thence northerly along the center of said Oil Creek Road to a stake in the southeast corner of lands of Orla Nichols; thence westerly and along the south line of said Nichols land 224 rods to a stake in the west line of the tract; thence along the tract line south to a stake in the north line of lands of said Fred Phillips the place of beginning, containing ninety-nine (99) Acres or less.

The County Treasurer sold the premises first above described for unpaid taxes in 1942, said premises having been assessed in the name of C. F. Kuhns, with taxes and levies for the years 1939 and 1940. Merlin E. Wright, the purchaser at said sale and his successors in title since 1942 have adversely possessed said premises and claimed ownership thereof.

The parcel of land second above described was conveyed to Alva Jewell in 1899 and the said Alva Jewell died intestate sometime prior to 1888 seized of said premises, and it is presumed that all of his heirs have conveyed title to the same by various deeds recorded among the records of Warren County. However, there is no record of the names of the heirs of Alva Jewell among his Estate papers filed in Warren County and there is nothing of record to indicate that all of his heirs have in fact conveyed their interest.

The Plaintiffs have instituted appropriate legal action for the purpose of requesting the Court to order that the said Defendants, their respective heirs and assigns, be forever barred from asserting any right, title or interest inconsistent with the claim of the Plaintiffs of, in or to the said parcels of land.

You are required to answer the said Complaint on file in the Prothonotary's Office of said Court within twenty (20) days from the publication of this notice or judgment by default will be entered against you.

We have the new Volvo 142.

You may have heard that Volvos last an average of 11 years in Sweden. We can't say that this Volvo—or its four-door version, the 144—will last that long. They're both new cars, and it's still too early to tell.

What we can say is that they're built like Volvos. And while there's no guarantee how long a Volvo will last in America, it is known that over 95% of all those registered here in the past 11 years are still on the road.

Come in and test-drive a new Volvo 142 or 144. But do it soon. Because the one place Volvos never last very long is in our showroom.

The muscular action of your digestive system, called peristalsis, should not slow down. Then you will be your smiling best. Millions of satisfied users take Carter's Pills. Why don't you, too?

Guaranteed Income Said Best Way to Eliminate Poverty

(C) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — "The only ones really against it are the people," this wry remark was made Monday by one of the growing number of American academic, business and financial leaders who have come to believe in some form of guaranteed income as the best means of eliminating poverty in the United States.

More than 1,000 economists endorsed the idea Monday without adopting any specific plan. They said supplemental income payments should be based solely on need related to family size, and that the system should provide incentives for higher earned incomes.

The Poor People's Campaign here is pressing for the same thing. "It makes a certain amount of sense," said a liberal Democratic member of Congress. "We all know there's a lot wrong with the present welfare system, which reaches only a quarter of the poor anyway. But the great majority of my people, as of now, are against it. They think of it as just another hand-out, another way of avoiding work."

A high official of the A.F.L.-C.I.O. took a similar view. "Support for this kind of plan just doesn't exist and couldn't exist in a work-oriented culture," he said. The labor movement is regarded as unlikely to support income supplement plans. Perhaps the best-known plan is termed a "negative income tax," in which individuals and families below an officially defined poverty line would receive taxes instead of paying them. A caller to a Washington question-and-answer radio program the other day gave his views on this approach in no uncertain terms. "What a phony!" he exclaimed. "It's not negative and it's not a tax, it's just a plain handout."

Apart from this evidently widespread attitude, an immediate problem is the cost of the various income supplement or guaranteed income plans. About the cheapest that has been suggested would cost about $11 billion a year. The most expensive would cost $26 billion. The nation now spends $8 billion a year on welfare payments, part of which would be eliminated by the various plans.

The necessary sums are obviously not available now, with the budget already deeply in the red. Some conservative and moderate economists, though sympathetic in some ways to the underlying idea, declined to sign Monday's statement on the ground that it gave no estimate of the cost or how the money would be raised.

But when the war in Vietnam ends, many economists believe, there will be ample funds to adopt a universal income-supplement plan for those below the poverty line, provided the nation chooses to expand its resources in this fashion rather than some other.

Support for income supplements or guaranteed income has come from a wide spectrum of opinion. One of the earliest supporters was the economist Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, a conservative who supported Barry Goldwater for president in 1964.

On a television program last year Friedman provided perhaps the simplest rationale for the plan. His interviewer began by saying that he was going to pose an extremely complex question, and he warned the audience in advance of the difficulty of the subject. Turning to Dr. Friedman, he asked: "Dr. Friedman, how can we improve the incomes of the poor?"

Friedman: "Give them money."

"COMFORT AND CONVENIENCE"

FAMILY ROOMS have been one of the most popular features of newer homes in recent years . . . even though many a person has said, "Why, that's just what we had when I was a kid . . . a parlor for company and another room for family living."

Well, the living room needn't be an unused parlor . . . but the family room does take a tremendous burden off the living room. Placed close to the kitchen, it's wonderful as an area for the youngsters' activities, where Mom can keep an eye on them. It's fine for hobbies, television and many other family activities.

The family room tends to be an informal room, and it should be furnished in that mood. Bright cheerful colors are fine here. Fabrics and furnishings that don't demand delicate care should be chosen. Hard-surface floorings, or readily cleaned area rugs are practical.

Be sure you plan storage for your family room, where toys, hobby equipment and the like can be stowed away. And, of course, a family eating area.

Our displays feature a host of ideas for the most formal or informal living areas of your home. We'll be glad to help you plan your selections, for quality and beauty within your budget.

Freeman Demands Equal Time To Challenge TV Documentary

(C) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman charged Monday that the Columbia Broadcasting System had aired a "biased, one-sided and dishonest presentation" of hunger in America and he formally demanded equal time on the network to refute it.

The secretary summoned newsmen to a second floor conference room at the Agriculture Department to denounce the better part of 45 angry minutes the C.B.S. television documentary, "Hunger in America," shown on the network last Tuesday night.

In a letter expressing "my disappointment and indignation" to Dr. Frank Stanton, the C.B.S. president, Freeman requested "equal network time to refute the errors of fact, the misinterpretations and the misinformation that were dispersed through 'Hunger in America' and to assure the hungry of this nation that the United States Department of Agriculture does care -- that it is doing what it can for them -- and that it wants to do a great deal more."

To reporters, Freeman declared that the broadcast had "created disillusionment and restlessness and the general feeling that there is indifference and no one cares." "The tube can get pretty careless," he said "It can be a pretty miserable piece of business, and this program . . . was a pretty bad job, as bad as anything that I have ever seen in the time I have been in public life."

Broadcasting industry officials said they believed it was the first time a cabinet member had publicly demanded "equal time" to challenge a radio or television documentary. They also pointed out that Freeman's claim -- if it were to be granted -- would come under the "fairness doctrine" laid down by the Federal Communications Commission, not under the statutory "equal time" provisions, which applies only to candidates for elective office.

In a statement read Monday on "The C.B.S. Evening News with Walter Cronkite," Richard S. Salant, the network's president in charge of news, said:

"We have only heard of, and have not yet seen, Secretary Freeman's letter and so-called bill of particulars. They will obviously receive careful consideration when they arrive. Meanwhile, I have every confidence in the accuracy and responsibility of the C.B.S. news personnel who worked over many months on 'Hunger in America,' of which we are all very proud."

One C.B.S. news executive noted that in a separate "Bill of Particulars" against the documentary, addressed to Chairman Carl Perkins of the House education and labor committee, the secretary charged today that "Hunger in America" had reported that 1,000 counties in this country were without Agriculture Department food stamp programs -- "a 40 per cent error," according to Freeman. In the memorandum to Perkins, the secretary said the correct number of counties was "only 600."

But in his five-page letter to Stanton, Freeman declared that, of the 3,090 counties in the U.S., "today 2,200 counties, two-thirds of those in the country, have food programs." The C.B.S. spokesman noted that

"by his own arithmetic, that leaves 890 counties without food programs. Who's error is that?"

Freeman left little doubt in his news conference statements and in the two communications he released Monday that he was angry. He said, for instance, that he was lodging his complaint even though he had been advised against arguing with C.B.S. because "I have been told that no public official, regardless of the merits of his case, can expect to win an argument with a powerful television network."

He said he was particularly outraged that the documentary had charged that the Agriculture Department's food distribution program for the poor "has not changed since it was conceived in the 1930's."

Freeman asserted that the commodity distribution program was providing significantly greater and better nutrition to the poor now.

There was speculation that Freeman's response to the television program may have been colored somewhat by the fact that demonstrators of the Poor People's Campaign have singled out his department for particular, almost daily attention.

Just before Freeman met with newsmen Monday, more than 100 demonstrators were led by the Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, a Poor People's campaign official, to the Agriculture Department cafeteria for lunch. When the single check for $292.66 was presented to Jackson, he declined to pay it, saying the amount would be compared with what the nation owes the poor. "Whoever owes the other will pay," he said.

Criminal Court Considers 'Thalidomide Catastrophe'

ALSDORF, Germany (AP) — A criminal court took up Monday the enormously complex question of whether human negligence, rather than a quirk of nature, caused what some medical authorities have termed the "thalidomide catastrophe."

Seven officials and scientists of Chemie Gruenthal, a West German pharmaceutical firm, went on trial before the Aachen state court charged in a 972-page indictment with negligent manslaughter and inflicting bodily injury in the maiming and death of thousands of children whose mothers took the thalidomide drug in the early stages of pregnancy. The drug also is blamed for causing nervous disorders in adult users.

About $25 million in damage claims depend on the outcome of the trial.

The defendants themselves face up to five years imprisonment.

Two others named in the same indictment, including company President Hermann Wirtz, 71, had their trials postponed because of illness.

Chemie Gruenthal hit upon Naphthyl-L-glutamic acid in an unsuccessful search for a drug to combat epilepsy. The substance, which was later registered as thalidomide, was marketed by the company in West Germany and abroad as a nontoxic tranquilizer from 1957 to 1961.

The prosecution, after five years of investigation, contends there was a link between the drug and a wave of infants born during and soon after this period with missing or malformed limbs and ears and other defects, some of which led to death.

Estimates of the alleged thalidomide victims range up to 6,500 children in 20 countries, from Austria to the Philippines, where thalidomide was manufactured under license, marketed or obtained by individuals from abroad.

About 40 parents of malformed children sat in the front rows of the make-shift courtroom in a section reserved for the complainants, who number about 30, in all. The chief plaintiff is the prosecutor.

The setting was a banquet hall attached to a restaurant belonging to a mining company. The court rented the hall because regular courtrooms in nearby Aachen are too small for the scope of the trial, which is expected to last two years.

Peking Calls Provincial Leaders to Capital

(C) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — The Peking leadership has summoned provincial military and civilian leaders to the capital in what western analysts believe is a campaign to assert central control over the fragmented cultural revolution.

High-level planning conferences have apparently been in session throughout this month, bringing together even such rare visitors to Peking as the military commanders of Sinkiang and Tibet.

The official press has reported the presence of the provincial leaders at three public appearances, starting with the traditional May 1 rally. Instead of dispersing shortly after the holiday festivities, the delegates remained and appeared at a reception on May 8, and again last week on May 20.

It is not yet clear whether the private meetings, which presumably occurred between these public appearances have now ended, or whether the provincial administrators are still in Peking.

Official statements have only hinted at subjects under discussion, but there has been enough to make diplomatic analysts conclude that the Maoist leadership is attempting to consolidate its hold over the revolutionary administrations across the country.

The main issues, in the view of these analysts, center on improving the operation of the so-called revolutionary committees, the vaguely defined organs for local government set up after the traditional Communist party apparatus has been largely destroyed during the cultural revolution.

Secondly, there is evidence suggesting that the assembled local leaders were given instructions about organizing a new party structure, in preparation for a forthcoming national party congress.

The analysts here were impressed by the prominence given to traditional party titles in the identification of participants at the meetings. The official account of the May 8 reception, they said, listed the members of the Politburo of the party's central committee for the first time in over two years of cultural revolution turmoil.

This was taken as a sign that Mao Tse-tung, the Communist party chairman, and his chief lieutenants were moving ahead with plans to restore the party to an influential role.

One of the main difficulties about convening a party congress is the selection of delegates, and for this the cooperation and understanding of the regional administrators would be central to Peking's purposes.

If a congress and renewed party apparatus is to come about, the Peking leadership would want to ensure that the new party officials were loyal to the aims of the cultural revolution.

A principle motive behind the mass upheavals of the last two years has been to purge the Communist party of workers judged too conservative and counterrevolutionary.

Another major issue outstanding between Peking and the provinces—definition of the role of the revolutionary committees—is also believed to be under discussion in the Peking meetings. Technically representing tripartite alliances of the army, the Red guards and other radical revolutionary movements and the surviving party leaders, the majority of these committees are in fact dominated by the military.

The Peking leadership must approve the composition of each province committee when it is formed, but from then on the degree to which it is responsive to central direction is far from clear.

With the role of the party and of the revolutionary committees thus unclear, analysts believe that the leaders of many Chinese provinces and military regions have tended to go their own ways, without regard to the central Peking leadership.

Most experts minimize such centrifugal tendencies as a serious challenge to Chinese unity. It is not that there are ambitious warlords trying to break away from Peking, according to this analysis; it is rather that the Peking leadership is so preoccupied with various factional strains that there has been little energy left for detailed attention to the province affairs.

REPAID WITH INTEREST

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The next time Charles Martin uses the Kentucky Turnpike he will have the correct change in his pocket. Martin drove up to an automatic tollgate, dug into his pocket for coins and found nothing but a $20 bill, a $1 bill and two pennies.

Luckily a turnpike employee happened along and let Martin through the gate. He also handed him a notice of an unpaid toll and instructed Martin to mail the money to the state treasurer in Frankfort.

Martin made out a check for 10 cents, the toll. Writing the check cost another dime, and the postage was 6 cents.

It's Hard to Get A Telephone-- When You Live in Brazil

(C) N.Y. Times News Service RIO DE JANEIRO — Twenty years ago, when the world was young, Mrs. Elvira dos Prazeres Costa's son-in-law went downtown to inscribe their name on the waiting list for a telephone.

Recently, the son-in-law came home from his carpenter's shop with big news.

"Mother, they told me it's coming," he said. "We're getting a telephone."

Dona Elvira is 74 years old now. She came to Brazil from Portugal when she was 9 years old. Her face is a tanned, wrinkled map of old age; her hands are big and well-worn.

This flawless autumn morning here she leaned over the garden wall of her neat home in the suburbs of Todos Os Santos and talked with a visitor.

"You see," she said, "I don't blame anyone." She paused to nod to a child skipping down the hill. "I feel that if I waited 20 years, I could wait 30. For certain it is a long time to wait. But this is Brazil."

Dona Elvira does not expect to get much use from the telephone, which is supposed to arrive in July.

"I have lived enough years," she says. "My home in the Sao Joao Batista Cemetery is already bought and paid for."

Mrs. Costa is not alone in this city of 4 million. The telephone company, which has been a state-owned enterprise since 1966, has a waiting list of 260,000 names. The earliest dating from 1943.

During peak business hours it is not unusual to wait 15 minutes for a dial tone. Since the equipment is old, about half the calls go to a wrong number. Then the caller must wait 15 more minutes to try again.

The price for a telephone purchased from a previous owner now stands at about $800. Mothers with baby sons often inscribe their names on the waiting list in hopes that by the time they reach manhood they will have a phone of their own.

Arbitration Commissioner Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Frank Zal, arbitration commissioner for Philadelphia County Court for 10 years and national president of Brith Shalom, died Monday at the age of 57.

Zal headed the system of lawyers' panels which, since 1958, have handled the court's civil cases involving under $2,000.

Since its inauguration, nearly 70,000 cases were processed. Besides his work in Brith Shalom, a Jewish fraternal order, Zal also was president of the Philadelphia association for Retarded Children.

His widow, a son, a daughter, three sisters and two brothers survive.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

Historians believe the ancestors of present-day Samoans reached the islands about the fifth century. A French party sighted Samoa in 1738, but real contact with European civilization did not begin until 1768.

PMTA Seeks Curtailed Service Over Holiday

HARRISBURG—The Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association today issued a special request to Pennsylvania truck operators to limit their service to necessary emergency deliveries over the Memorial Day holiday.

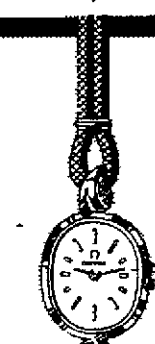

Professional truck drivers who must be on the road due to public necessity were reminded that extremely heavy traffic is expected with probable delays in many communities because of special Memorial Day ceremonies and parades.

Charles R. May, PMTA's Safety Director, said, "Memorial Day marks the beginning of the summer vacation season for many families who use the Memorial Day weekend as their first 'summer getaway.' I urge all Pennsylvania drivers to show every possible courtesy to their fellow highway users."

"If drivers maintain their vehicles in a good, safe operating condition, practice sound defensive driving habits and pay strict attention to traffic safety laws, all of us could make this Memorial Day a happy one," he added.

PMTA has, for many years, cooperated with the motoring public during peak holiday periods in urging the curtailing of motor truck service.

Pennsylvania Happenings

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Big business, no longer disinterested, today is up to its armpits in Pennsylvania and elsewhere in seeking solutions to riots and other civil disturbances.

The prime answer: Jobs. But — are they really around? — jobs with a future, that is!

Stuart Saunders, board chairman of the Penn Central Co., the Philadelphia-based firm which operates the world's largest privately-owned railroad and is one of America's biggest landlords, said failure of business to train and hire the hard-core unemployed "could lead to significant changes in the economic, social and political environment which has been so productive for the nation."

"Despite an overall low level of unemployment in the U.S., there are many thousands of unemployed and underemployed people," says Saunders. "The majority are Negroes, and a high proportion are young people. They tend to be concentrated in the most congested urban sections."

"This condition is serious and significant because a large group of people is being deprived, for a variety of individual reasons, of the benefits of our society."

"They are a tax drain when the work force needs additional manpower. They are also an obvious potential source of unrest and disturbance."

Saunders was named by President Johnson to head the National Alliance of Businessmen in the eight-county Southeastern Pennsylvania area around Philadelphia. The program, nationally, is led by Henry Ford II.

Across the nation the goal is 500,000 productive jobs with adequate pay by 1971, plus employment this summer for 200,000 young people. Saunders' committee is asked to find meaningful work for 20,000 in three years, 5,000 now.

Saunders says business is concerned because failure to solve or alleviate the problem "will lead to a massive government effort which could be very costly."

So — will business succeed?

Saunders, quite naturally, hedges. He says migration of poor people continues to be heavy into urban areas and "the program will have to be fairly effective just to prevent increases in hard-core unemployment."

"However," he adds, "we are optimistic and encouraged enough to believe that this effort, by applying business leadership to the problem, will reduce the number substantially."

As for government help, Saunders believes federal, state and local aid can be best used in more public education "as preparation for employment, and perhaps in transportation and housing to give improved access to employment."

Furthermore, Saunders says new ways must be found to encourage more business growth inside the big cities "and to develop minority-run enterprises."

Ideas anyone? — Saunders says he'll gladly listen!

Betsy Kraus of Pittsburgh swears it happened to her mother, on a flight to Philadelphia, leaving her seat to visit with a friend in another part of the plane. Returning before the landing, a nervous lady sitting beside her exclaimed, "Oh, I'm so glad you didn't leave — you left your purse on the seat."

Proposed 3,000-Mile Road May Open Heartlands of South America

LIMA—The foreign ministers of four South American nations met here during the weekend to discuss progress on a road some 3,000 miles long that would open the jungle-covered heartlands of South America. The foreign ministers of Peru, Bolivia, Argentina and Paraguay sought to expedite planning and work on the road, known as the Bolivian Highway of the jungle's edge.

The meeting of the foreign ministers was the second in a week in which they sought a cooperative development of international regions.

The ministers of Bolivia, Argentina, Brazil, Paraguay and Uruguay met in Bolivia to draw up an agreement and some tentative plans for the economic development of the Rio de la Plata Basin.

Meanwhile, representatives of the so-called "Andino Group" — Peru, Ecuador, Venezuela, Chile and Bolivia — settled enough of their economic and political differences in Quito last week to talk about developing a new petro-chemical industry.

The group planned to ask support from the Latin American Free Trade Association, which began new technical meetings in Montevideo last week.

In all of these meetings, progress toward integration and international cooperation has been slowed by the intense nationalism of the member nations, grinding economic competition, and an over-all lack of capital for big projects.

The highway meeting was no exception, and no startling developments in the project were expected.

However, the mere presence of Argentina's foreign minister, Nicanor Costa Mendez, was regarded as an important step. Costa Mendez said when he arrived that he regarded the projected highway as "the vertebral column of economic and social development and of surface communication of our peoples."

In its most ambitious form, the road would stretch all the way from Caracas, on the north coast of South America down through Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Paraguay and Argentina to Buenos Aires.

While the existing Pan-American highway runs along the west coast of South America most of the way down, the new highway would lie for the most part east of the Andean mountain range, the traditional barrier between the great cities of the west coast and the interior.

130-Vote Pa. Democratic Delegation Overwhelmingly Prefers Humphrey

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's 130-vote delegation to the Democratic national convention overwhelmingly expressed its preference Monday for Vice President Hubert Humphrey as the party's presidential nominee.

A poll of the delegation at an organizational meeting in Harrisburg gave Humphrey 83 votes; Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, 21, and 20 uncommitted. Five votes were not included in the non-binding tally. There was one vote for former President Harry S. Truman.

There were no votes cast for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York. One unidentified delegate who originally voted for Kennedy later changed his vote to Humphrey, while a second Kennedy delegate, also unidentified, refused to vote on the ground that none of the delegates had officially been certified.

The vote came after U. S. Rep. William Green, Philadelphia County chairman, made an impassioned but unsuccessful appeal to delay the poll.

Green, regarded as a Kennedy man, charged that the meeting was called by a "private club" to help the candidacy of Humphrey just before the Oregon and California primaries. Oregon votes Tuesday, and California next Tuesday.

Green, who said he was not arguing for Robert Kennedy, said the "vote should be taken in Chicago, not in Harrisburg."

His motion was defeated, 89 to 34, with two abstentions.

Earlier, Humphrey had picked up the backing of Philadelphia Mayor James H. J. Tate, who called the vice president "the right man for the right job at the right time."

Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph Barr, elected chairman of the delegation, also voted for Humphrey in the poll.

Kenneth P. O'Donnell, representing Kennedy, maintained that the organizational meeting was a "power play" on the part of the Democratic organization leaders to give Humphrey's campaign a psychological boost. "I would say it's a sign of panic and an indication of weakness on their (organization) part," O'Donnell told newsmen.

"If it weren't, why the panic all of a sudden? If I had the strongest candidate, I'd be content to wait until the convention,"

O'Donnell, standing in a corner outside the delegation meeting room, contended that the sole purpose of the Humphrey backers was to give the vice president some strength to point to prior to election of a 174-man delegation in California June 4.

He repeated the request of the Kennedy forces to defer any polling of strength until California primary was over, noting that any nose count now would not necessarily be binding on the delegation.

Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, representing his older brother, asked that the delegation refrain from committing itself until Robert Kennedy had a chance to appear personally after the June 4 California primary election.

Of the 162 delegates, 42 at large will cast one full vote at the convention; the national committeeman and committee-woman, one vote each; 10 at large delegates, ½ vote each; and 108 elected delegates, ¼ votes each.
